Explorer Expects to Be In Touch With Base Over Entire Journey to Pole

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(UP)—The New York Times, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the newspapers affiliated with them in publishing reports from Commander Richard E. Byrd's antarctic expedition, have announced that Commander Byrd started from his base, Little America in the antarctic, at 3:29 p. m., yesterday, (10:29 p. m. Eastern standard time) on a 1600-mile flight to the south pole and back.

Commander Byrd, who is flying with Bert Balchen as pilot, Harold June as radio operator and Captain Ashley C. McKinley as photographer, in a big tri-motored Ford airplane, expected to be in direct communication throughout the flight with the New York Times radio station in New York, as well as with his base, and to report his progress regularly.

If the flight is successful Byrd should return to his base within 24 hours.

Commander Richard E. Byrd, making the first attempt to reach the south pole by air, would be expected to reach his objective about mid-morning today (Eastern standard time) if all went well and the big plane maintained an average of about 100 miles an hour.

The distance of about 800 miles

HIT, RUN SUSPECT JAILED BY POLICE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—(UP)—Elmer R. Dean, of Philadelphia, was held at Police headquarters for investigation today as a suspected hit and run driver who last night seriously injured a San Francisco society girl and her escort.

Dean was taken into custody by police who traced Dean's car through a license number given by a witness to the accident. He was found at his hotel where he was registered with his wife.

Miss Florence Faxon, daughter of a prominent rancher, and William J. Kenney, local attorney, were awaiting a taxi near the curb at a downtown street corner when a machine struck a parked car near them, the impact throwing Miss Faxon into the street, and knocking Kenney down. The driver fled, running over the girl as he maneuvered the car away from the scene.

Girl Flyers' Endurance Flight Ends

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—(UP)—The second attempt of Bobbie Trout and Elinor Smith to establish a new endurance refueling flight record ended here at 3:47:07 a. m., today after they had been in the air 42 hours and five minutes.

Inability of mechanics to properly repair the motor of their refueling plane caused the attempt to be abandoned. At first it was proposed to use an emergency refueling machine but the backers of the flight declared this would be unduly dangerous during the night.

The girls went aloft at 9:40 a. m., Wednesday, confident of staying up for days.

ANNUAL DRIVE TO SELL XMAS SEALS STARTS

Thirty-five Thousand Letters Sent Out Today in Orange County

THIRTY-FIVE thousand letters containing 3½ million Christmas Seals were today placed in the mails of Orange county. This officially marked the opening of the annual Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Campaign.

The drive for $35,000 in Orange county is being made in order that the scientific health program instituted by the Tuberculosis Association be carried on. This program includes the maintenance of the Orange County Health Camp in Santiago Canyon, the annual physical examination in the county schools, the regular public health lectures by recognized authorities and the distribution of educational and preventive health literature. Santa Ana's quota is $12,000.

In the last 25 years the National Tuberculosis Association has reduced the death rate of Tuberculosis by fifty per cent. In Orange county, the local association has also accomplished excellent results during the few years of its active organization. Its preventive program has been outstanding among the many in the nation.

H. A. Lake, president of the Orange County Tuberculosis Association in a statement today said, "The prevention of Tuberculosis in this county is an issue that should interest every public spirited citizen. It means better citizens for the future, a better economic situation. It means life. I feel that it will be the desire of every individual in the county to give hearty generous support in our battle with the White Plague."

The same fighting attitude was displayed by the district chairman of the campaign. L. A. West, Santa Ana chairman, and prominent attorney, also stated his attitude. "A great and humane work is being done with these little seals," he said. "Every penny means life, every dollar happiness, to some child. Surely, it is worth while to insure the children of our country their rightful heritage of health, happiness and an equal chance in life.

"These seals mean prevention of tuberculosis and general good health. Prevention is better, and cheaper, than cure. I urge a whole-hearted support on the part of the county."

KILLS WIFE AND SUICIDES

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—(UP)—The hour they were to have joined friends in a holiday dinner was chosen by James B. Pauley, prominent coal operator, to make his wife and himself martyrs to despair resulting from heavy stock market losses and ill health of both.

He shot and killed Mrs. Elinor Ludlow Pauley, niece of the late Governor Bushnell of Ohio, as she sat working a cross word puzzle in their luxurious apartment in the Ambassador hotel, then stepped into the bathroom and sent a fatal bullet into his own temple.

ACTION ASKING DIVORCE FILED BY POLA NEGRI

Suit Started in Paris and Incompatibility Given As Only Grounds

PARIS, Nov. 29.—(UP)—The broken romance of Pola Negri and the Georgian prince, Serge Mdivani, finally reached Paris divorce courts today when attorneys for the movie picture actress filed papers charging incompatibility.

Miss Negri's suit, filed under the actress' true name, Appolonia Chalupez, divorced wife of Count Mombska, cites a long list of instances in which she and her prince disagreed, climaxed by their separation several months ago when she left to live with his father.

They were married in May, 1927, at Miss Negri's residence, Chateau Serincourt, just outside Paris. They agreed in April of this year to a divorce. All efforts of the prince's brother, Prince David, who married Mae Murray, another film star, to bring about a reconciliation were unsuccessful and the separation lengthened, Serge taking up work as a French distributor for American talking picture producers.

Miss Negri arrived here two weeks ago, announcing that she planned to begin the divorce action but protesting that she still loved her husband.

"I loved Serge greatly and I still love him," she said. "Divorce will be a great wrench, but divorces are the only solution when two people cannot live peacefully together."

Prince Serge, when informed by the United Press today that his wife had filed the papers of the suit, said:

"I certainly won't oppose the suit. She really is kind to sue on grounds of incompatibility. She could have used many other reasons. She is a charming woman, but we are not mates."

Miss Negri plans to remain at her chateau with her mother, hopeful that she may get action on the suit before she returns to Hollywood in January to fulfill a contract to make three talkies.

There was some question as to whether she was a legal resident but in view of the fact that the prince has been a legal resident of Paris since the war, the court is expected to expedite the case as a French action rather than American.

The actress, accompanied by her lawyer, laid the request for a divorce on the desk of the presiding judge, in accordance with law.

She was successful in dodging in and out to avoid notice of almost every one.

The court acknowledged receipt of the paper and announced that the next step would be a legal attempt at reconciliation. The court will call both parties and attempt to arrange a reconciliation but the formality is not expected to succeed.

NAVAL DELEGATES TO MEET IN PALACE

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(UP)—King George's offer of the state room of St. James palace as the meeting place for the five power naval disarmament conference has been accepted by the cabinet, it was learned today.

The cabinet also has decided to hold the plenary sessions of the conference in the royal gallery of the house of lords.

Prime Minister Ramsey MacDonald is expected to announce Monday the makeup of the British delegation to the conference.

General Staff G. O. P. Upset Is Forecast

Reassignment of Committee Chairmanships in Senate Is Planned

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(UP)—A shake up in the general staff of the Republican party in the senate was forecast today when letters were sent to all Republican senators asking if they were pleased with their present committee assignments.

The letters were regarded as another way of asking what the various Republican senators desire, in preparation for a shift of jobs.

They were sent out by Chairman McNary of the Republican committee on committees who will call a meeting of his committee next week to plan the reassignment of committee chairmanships—important posts which enable their holders to direct legislation.

Ostensibly the changes were necessitated by the death of Chairman Warren of the appropriations committee, the resignation of Chairman Edge of the Interoceanic Canals committee, and the death of Senator Burton, a member of the foreign relations committee. The passing of these three men from the senate involves shift in many other posts.

According to reliable information, the following important changes are scheduled:

Senator Jones of Washington is to resign from the assistant leadership of the senate, to become chairman of the appropriations committee which directs all government appropriations.

McNary is slated to be made assistant leader in place of Jones, in preparation for a further shift later on, when and if Republican

RESIDENT HERE FOR 43 YEARS IS DEAD

Charles W. Bowers, pioneer resident of this city, died today at his home, 2010 North Main street, at the age of 86 years.

Funeral services will be held in the Smith and Tuthill chapel at 2 p.m., tomorrow with Dr. George Warmer, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating.

The pioneer is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ada Bowers, and two cousins, Dr. C. W. Reardon, of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Belle Cline, Long Beach.

Mr. Bowers came to Santa Ana from Missouri in 1886 and, with his father and family, first located at First and Cypress streets. Five years later, or in 1891, property was purchased at the corner of Main and Twentieth streets, and Mr. Bowers had continued his home there until his death.

Mr. Bowers was recognized here as a capitalist and successful operator of ranch properties.

PROTEST PETITIONS FILED WITH COUNCIL ARE ILLEGAL

Discussing the protest filed with the city Monday against the opening of Santa Ana boulevard, Clyde Jenken, city engineer, today pointed out that the protest was in no way legal under provisions of the Mattoon act, under which the improvement is to be made.

The several protest petitions carried the names of 1933 persons, all of whom were supposed to be property owners, but Jenken declares that a cursory glance over the list reveals the names of more than one or two members of a family.

The protest was irregular in that it did not meet the law requirement of a legal description of each piece of property owned by signers. No attempt was made by any of the signers to define their holdings.

"As a matter of fact, each signer should have attached his signature to an individual protest, setting forth the legal description of his ownings," the engineer said, in pointing out that it was hardly possible for descriptions to be entered on the type of petition circulated.

CITY GRANTED JURISDICTION OVER PROPERTY

Order of Possession Given By Judge Allen at Noon As Money Deposited

THE CITY of Santa Ana today held an order from Judge James L. Allen giving the municipality jurisdiction over the property needed for the opening of Santa Ana boulevard paralleling the Southern Pacific tracks from near the county hospital to an intersection with Main street just north of Santa Clara avenue.

The order of possesison was issued immediately following the deposit by City Attorney Charles D. Swanner of a check for $43,525 with County Clerk J. M. Backs, to cover severance and property damages resulting from the opening of the thoroughfare.

By depositing the money, the city will avoid delay in the proceedings that would result from awaiting conclusion of condemnation suits that have been filed. It is estimated that $43,525 will take care of all judgments issued.

7 LOSE LIVES AS TOWN IS BURNED

ATAMI, Japan, Nov. 29.—(UP)—Searching parties were examining the ruins of more than 100 buildings today in quest of additional bodies that might be discovered to swell the total of seven deaths reported in the disastrous fire which swept the town yesterday.

The fire, which started in a garage, spread rapidly due to a high wind and to the light construction of the houses, and soon was out of control. One hundred dwellings and stores were destroyed.

Seven Japanese were burned to death, it was reported.

Japanese Believe Warship Claims To Gain Recognition

TOKYO, Nov. 29.—(UP)—The world naval powers have indicated during preliminary conversations, complete sincerity towards claims which Japan will advance at the five-power naval conference, Admiral Takeshi Takarabe said today upon the eve of departure of the Japanese delegation for London.

Japan has sought reduction in naval arms but an increase from 5-5-3 to 10-10-7 in her ratio of warships as compared to Great Britain and the United States.

The Japanese delegation will leave for Seattle tomorrow enroute to London via Washington, where they will confer at the White House.

The delegation, headed by Former Prime Minister Reijido Wakatsuki, met at the official residence of Premier Lugo Hamaguchi today for a final discussion.

Three Deaths Are Reported Near Winnipeg

Colorado Is Visited by Its Twelfth Snowstorm of Season Today

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—(UP)—Blizzards roared across a vast section of the United States and Canada today, dropping a thick blanket of snow over most of the area between the Rocky Mountains and the Illinois-Indiana line and sending temperatures to sub-zero levels.

In places where the icy blasts had exhausted their burden of snow they hurled up drifts and packed roads and streets with solid barriers.

Three deaths had been reported over the Canadian line, where the storm had beaten with more fury. A Winnipeg fisherman, Jacob Schmidt, died of exposure: after the blizzard caught him while mending nets, and two other fishermen were frozen to death in a camp on the shore of Lake Winnipeg.

Three other fishermen, John Hanson, Harold Johnson and a man known only as "Old Peek," were believed lost on Lake Superior. They left Bayfield, Wis., in a small boat during a heavy snowstorm several days ago, bound for Manitou island, and had not been heard from. Searchers said there was little hope they were alive if they were on the lake.

Wyoming stockmen were battling the worst blizzard of the year, fearful of further heavy inroads in the herds and flocks. The mercury was hovering around the zero mark in many parts of the state.

Colorado awoke to find the twelfth snowfall of the season, after a mild Thanksgiving. Temperatures dropped as much as 25 degrees in a few hours. Snow from two to six inches deep lay over most of Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri. St. Louis had six inches of snow and almost as much had fallen at Columbia and Jefferson City, Mo. There was no fall at Kansas City. Ice lay on top of the snow in many Nebraska areas, disrupting traffic.

Snow was expected in the Panhandle of Texas.

The Dakotas were lashed by blizzards and a gale swept Iowa. Fresh winds increased suffering in the Great Lakes region. Although Chicago had little snow, other parts of Illinois had from one to four inches.

Duluth, Minn., was the coldest spot in the United States yesterday with 14 degrees below zero, while it was 24 below at White River, Ont.

'BEST FRIEND' HELD ON SHOOTING CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.(UP)—While Percival Watson, 36-year-old mechanical engineer, showed signs of improvement today, his "best friend," Major Owen R. Bird, prominent sportsman, was held in jail awaiting hearing on a charge of intent to commit murder.

Watson was shot Monday night while he and Mrs. Bird were sitting in the front room of the Bird home. While Bird, his wife, and Watson claim the shooting was caused by the fact Bird was intoxicated and resented it when Watson supported Mrs. Bird in an argument, police investigated the possibility of a "triangle."

Major Bird declared he thought the gun which wounded Watson was loaded with blanks for starting automobile races.

YOU SHOULD KNOW THIS

BERLIN, Nov. 28.—Know why an elephant wiggles his ears? Neither did we until Prof. Richard Hesse of the University of Bonn, Germany, explained. It keeps him cool, the professor explains. Much blood circulates through the animal's ears and when he fans them they cool the blood considerably.

A PROCLAMATION

Recognizing and commending the splendid work being accomplished by the Orange County Tuberculosis Association in the building up and training the under-par children at the Health Camp in Santiago Canyon and in the general preventive work being done throughout the county, I, as Mayor of Santa Ana, hereby heartily endorse the Christmas Health Seal Sale of the organization. I further urge that the residents of this city give their generous support to the campaign as one of the most effective measures of insuring the future health and happiness of the community.

U. S. SOLDIERS KILLED ABROAD HONORED TODAY

Seventy-five Bodies Arrive In New York Harbor and Din Is Hushed

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(UP)—The din of New York's harbor was hushed today in honor of 75 American soldiers who died on alien soil.

Just as dawn thinned the darkness the liner President Roosevelt, flags low in mourning, slid up the bay bearing the flag-swathed coffins of those who died in American expeditionary service to Archangel more than a decade ago.

The day's first sunlight slanted across the quarter-deck of the President Roosevelt as the municipal tug Macon, carrying delegations from Michigan and other points in the midwest nudged close against the liner's hull.

The visiting delegations, accompanied by representatives of the mayor of New York and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt boarded the President Roosevelt and placed six wreaths on the coffin of a soldier who now is identified only as unknown number 5.

Passengers, crew and visitors stood hatless in the frosty morning as the liner's engines vibrated and the ship started on its way to pier 4, Hoboken, where representatives of all American creeds waited to honor the men who died beside the River Diva, so far away from the main theater of war that Armistice day, 1918, found them in the midst of a bloody battle.

MAN 92, IMPRISONED IN 80-FOOT WELL

WILMINGTON, Ky., Nov. 29.—(UP)—Friends and neighbors worked feverishly today to reach William Sales, 92, who fell into an 80-foot well yesterday.

The case recalled the Floyd Collins affair as farmers came from miles around to reinforce police working to free the imprisoned man. He had not been heard since last night, and it was not known whether he was dead or alive.

Sales fell when the concrete cover over the well collapsed. The cover became wedged across the shaft near the top and prevented rescuers from reaching Sales with ropes. Attempts to lift the cover proved futile, as they caused earth to fall in on the imprisoned man.

Soviet Press Sees Foreign Mediator In Railway Fight

MOSCOW, Nov. 29.—(UP)—The Soviet press and political circles were frankly skeptical today of the Manchurian advances toward a peaceful settlement of the Chinese Eastern railway dispute.

There was a strong suspicion that the Manchurian government at Mukden might be influenced by anti-Soviet pressure to abandon direction of the negotiations with Russia in favor of some foreign mediation.

HUSBAND IS BADLY HURT BUT ESCAPES

Sister of Jess Goodman Is Instantly Killed Near Big Bear Lake Resort

AUTO LEAVES ROAD

Four Hours Is Required to Extricate Body From Bottom of Big Ravine

MRS. CLARA WILLIAMS, [illegible], of Los Angeles, former Santa Ana woman, was instantly killed at 6 o'clock last night, when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband, Ned Williams, plunged off the road from Big Bear Lake to the valley, dropping more than 1,000 feet into a canyon.

The husband was thrown clear of the machine onto the slope and escaped with serious cuts and bruises. He is in a San Bernardino hospital.

After more than four hours of hard work, rescuers managed to bring the body of Mrs. Williams to the road above and removed it to a funeral parlor at San Bernardino, where an inquest is scheduled for this afternoon.

Mrs. Williams was a sister of Jess Goodman, prominent Santa Ana tire dealer, who went to the scene of the accident last night with Sheriff Sam Jernigan and aided in bringing the body from the canyon.

Little was learned today concerning how the accident occurred, other than it was believed that Mr. Williams attempted to go around one of the dangerous curves on the road at too high a rate of speed and the car swerved over the embankment. The car turned over and over, finally landing at the bottom of the canyon. Mrs. Williams was pinned inside and never had a chance to escape.

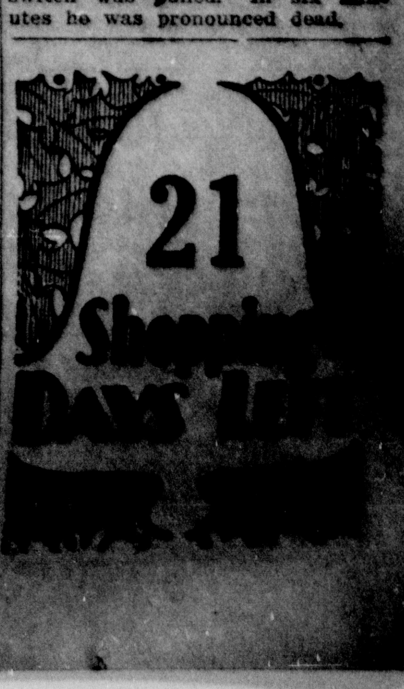
Beside her brother here, she is survived by her mother, Mrs. Laura Goodman, of Fifth and Birch strets, Santa Ana; Tom Goodman of Pomona, who formerly was in the tire business here with Jess Goodman; Sam Goodman, of Riverside and a sister, Mrs. Lula Lepter, of Whittier. There also are several other sisters and brothers residing in the east, it was reported.

Following the inquest at San Bernardino, the body will be taken to Los Angeles, where the funeral will be held. Mr. and Mrs. Williams lived at 668 Rampart street, in the Roberts-Arms apartments.

MAN EXECUTED FOR CRIMINAL ASSAULT

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Nov. 29.—Lee Guy Merriman went down death row to die in the electric chair early today, the first man in the history of Texas crime to receive the death penalty for criminal assault.

Twice the condemned man was asked if he had anything to say. Both times he shook his head. At 12:18 a.m. he was lashed to the chair, the steel cap was placed over his shaved head and the switch was pulled. In six minutes he was pronounced dead.



[illegible] DELIVERS [illegible] DINNERS TO NEEDY PERSONS

Needy persons of Santa Ana were provided with dinners by the Santa Ana Salvation Army yesterday. Genuine Thanksgiving dinners, with all the trimmings, were delivered to [illegible] needy families.

Churches and fraternal organizations and social clubs here remembered the poor and provided dinners for them. Under the direction of Captain Morton, Army workers avoided duplication of gifts for those families entertained by other charitable organizations.

The Salvation Army is a member of the Community Chest, but no provision is made in the Chest for funds to be used on Thanksgiving or Christmas. These two holiday efforts are supported directly by the public.

School children of Tustin brought provisions to their schools Wednesday and a large portion of them were turned over to the Salvation Army for distribution yesterday.

RASH IS REPORTED STILL UNCONSCIOUS

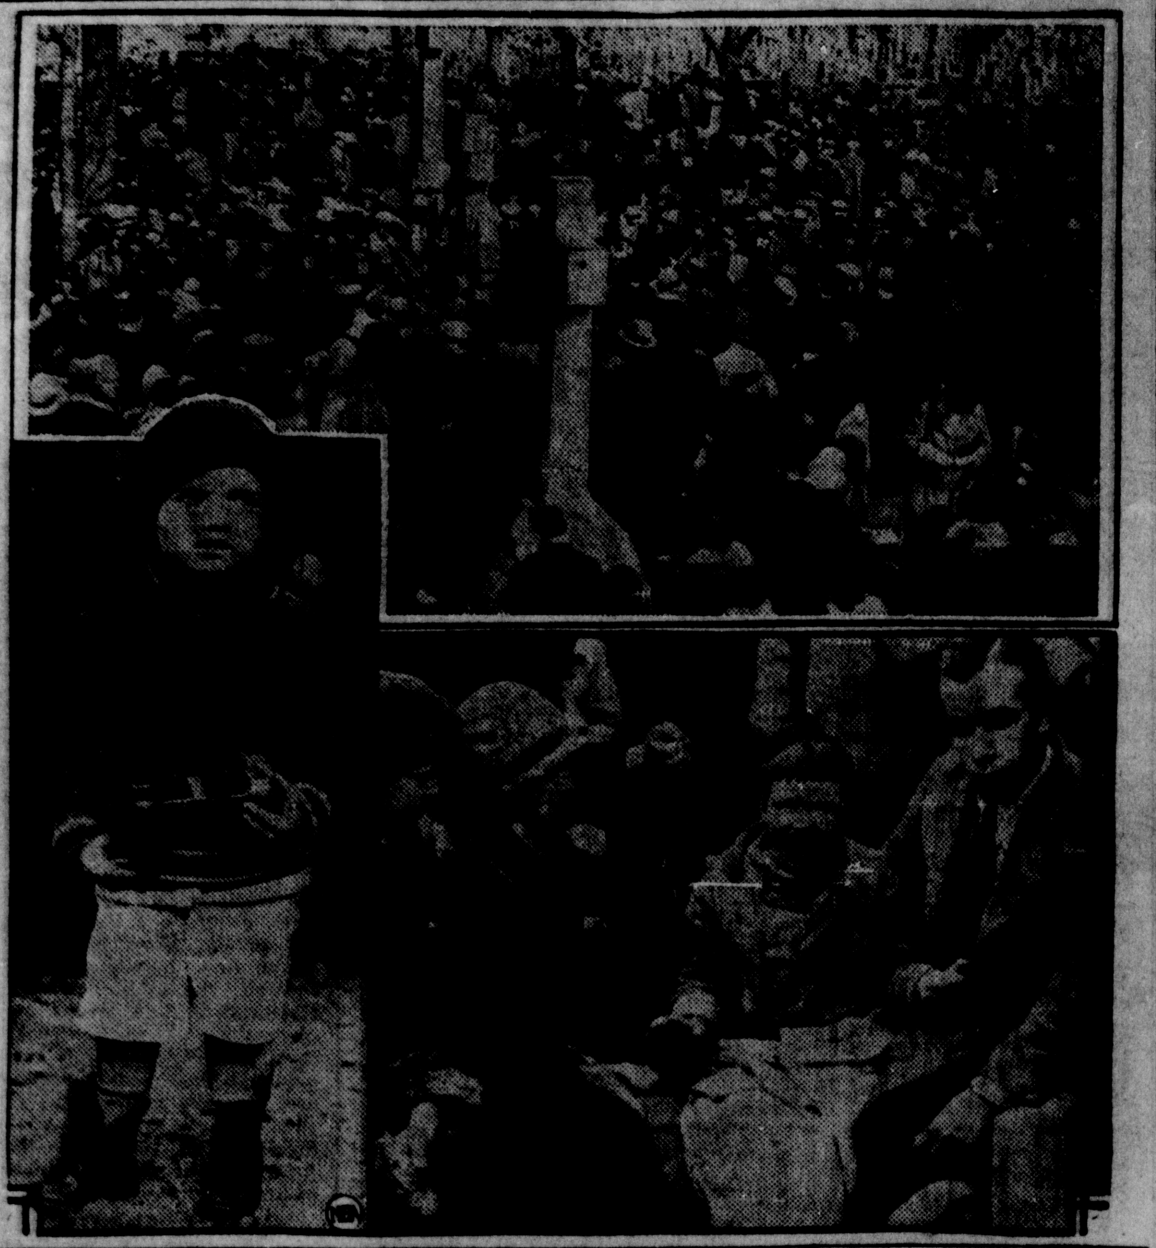
No improvement was seen today in the condition of Caleb Rash, foreman for the street department of the city of Santa Ana, who suffered a concussion of the brain last Tuesday morning while working at Bishop street and Broadway.

Rash has not regained consciousness, hospital attendants said today.

Rash was knocked to the pavement by a cable leading from a truck to a house which was being moved when the cable was struck by an automobile.

"MIRACLE CURES" DRAW MANY

Thousands thronged Holy Cross Cemetery at Malden, Mass., as reports of modern-day miracles brought pilgrims from all parts of the country to the grave of the Rev. Patrick J. Powers in quest of cures. Above you see part of the crowd gathered about the 60-year-old tomb of the young priest while invalids came in wheel-chairs, on crutches and on stretchers to be healed. Little Eugene Reynolds, lower left, had worn braces for two years, but he's pictured, lower left, walking without their aid after a visit to the shrine. "Look, mother see the things!" cried 13-year-old Catherine Cronin, shown lower right, with her parents, at the grave—and those were the first coherent words she was said to have uttered in several years.



BYRD STARTS LONG JOURNEY TO SOUTH POLE

from Byrd's base at Little America to the south pole presented the possibility of changing weather conditions—probably similar to the uncertainty of arctic flying—but, given good weather, the tri-motored plane should cover the distance to tht pole in nine or ten hours.

The Byrd flight, like his daring trip to the north pole, had been carefully prepared, but the departure came as a surprise, presumably because he waited for favorable weather conditions and made his decision suddenly.

Byrd is the leading exponent of heavier-than-air exploration in the arctic and antarctic regions. His flight from Spitzbergen to the north pole was made in 1926, the American explorer completing his 15-hour and 30-minute trip before the flight of the dirigible Norge and thus being the first to fly over the top of the world. No other airplane flight has been made to the north pole. Accompanied by Bernt Balchen, who had aided him at Spitzbergen, and three companions, Byrd made the flight from New York to Paris in 1927 only to be prevented from landing by fog. The big plane finally came down on the coast.

Balchen was at the controls when the party left Little America last night—the summer weather providing daylight—for the south pole.

Byrd is a skillful pilot, but his principal duty on such flights is navigation. It will be his job to find the point somewhere in the desolate antarctic plains and hills which is the south pole.

Elks' Memorial Service Will Be Held On Sunday

The annual memorial services of Santa Ana lodge, No. 794, B. P. O. E., will be held in the First Presbyterian church at 8 p. m., Sunday, it was announced today by Fred Newcomb, exalted ruler.

Pointing out that this will be the first time the lodge ever has held its memorial exercises in this city outside the lodge room, Newcomb said that it is mandatory upon members to attend.

Lodge members are scheduled to meet in the lodge room at 2:45 p. m.

Announcement was made today that the lodge will conduct a card party and entertainment in the lodge rooms Wednesday night. A one-hour program of entertainment will be provided by the American Legion auxiliary.

The admission price to the party will be a bundle of old clothes.

GENERAL STAFF G. O. P. SHAKEUP IS FORECAST

Floor Leader Watson retires from leadership.

Watson returned Wednesday from Florida where he went for a rest, and announced shortly thereafter he had no intention of retiring. Should he change his mind McNary would become leader. McNary was promoted for the leadership by the young guard recently during its threatened fight to overthrow Watson. Ill health, it [illegible] lunge [illegible].

Senator [illegible] of California, is to be made chairman of the commerce committee in place of Jones.

These shifts will make way for more changes all the way down the line, the young guard gaining more recognition on the major committees than at present.

ATWOOD

ATWOOD, Nov. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hewitt, of Maywood, were dinner guests Thursday in the home of Mrs. Hewitt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Shields.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Taylor and children spent the holidays in Los Angeles as guests in the home of Major and Mrs. William Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan McKean, of Terre Haute, Ind., arrived Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Cottom. Mrs. Robert Cottom, their neice, and her infant daughter, are leaving with them this week for Omaha, Neb., to be with her husband, who went on several weeks ago. Mr. and Mrs. McKean and their niece spent Wednesday sightseeing in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kuhns and children, of Placentia, were dinner guests Thursday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Mosley. Mrs. Mosley, who has been quite ill for several weeks, is much better.

Mrs. Ruth Barbre, Mrs. Marie Barbre and Junior and Marie Barbre, of Los Angeles, were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Barbre over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Morales and children were dinner guests Thursday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Corona in Anaheim.

Edward Krieling of Los Angeles, was a guest in the home of Miss Louise Cottom Thursday.

Trackery lifted his hat every time he passed the house in which he wrote "Vanity Fair."

[illegible] ALIENIST TO TESTIFY IN ROBBERY CASE

One of the country's leading alienists is scheduled to testify in superior court here next January as the result of the appointment by Judge James L. Allen, of Dr. Edward H. Williams, psychiatrist for the Los Angeles superior court and author of several works on crime and diseased minds, as consulting specialist for the people in the case against W. H. Tinklepaugh.

Tinklepaugh, the alleged Fullerton theater bandit, pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity when he answered to a charge of robbery contained in an information filed with Judge Allen today by Z. B. West, district attorney. The information charged Tinklepaugh with taking $39, property of Fox Theaters, Inc., from Mrs. Warren Wright after menacing her with a revolver on November 21.

The case was set for January 13 and it is estimated that three days will be required to try it. In addition to Dr. Williams, who appeared as alienist in the Hickman case in Los Angeles, one other alienist will appear for the people. Judge Allen indicated today that the other specialist will be from the staff of the Norwalk institution.

SPEEDY HAIRCUT

LONDON, Nov. 29.—London barbers are ready to throw away their scissors. A new electric hair cutter does the job in less than half the time it used to take. It is something along the line of the modern electric clippers, but does the entire job, instead of merely the trimming. As the hair is cut it is automatically thrown away, thereby eliminating the stray hairs from falling under the collar.

EL MODENA

EL MODENA, Nov. 29. — Mrs. Porter Price underwent a major operation Tuesday morning at the Santa Ana Valley hospital. At last reports she was getting along as well as could be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Langendorfer, of Long Beach, were overnight guests of their daughter, Mrs. Sylvester Marshburn, recently. Their little granddaughter, Norine, returned home remained for a few days.

Mrs. Julia Forrey, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. George Stoner, is spending the week with relatives in Long Beach.

Miss Ruby Armstrong is staying in Los Angeles with her cousin and is taking a special course in music.

All the teachers and Principal J. D. Hayes of the El Modena schools attended the principals' and teachers' meeting held in Huntington Beach recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bricke were hosts at a pretty dinner party given in their home on East Walnut street Friday evening. The affair was to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Bricke. The table where the delicious dinner was served was beautiful in pink and white. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McCullum and daughter, Miss Eileen, Mrs. Armstrong, of Villa Park; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Koenig and little son, the hosts and their son Billy.

Fred Deacon is reported to be seriously ill at a local hospital.

CITY REALTORS PROTEST OVER BOARD ACTION

Following declarations that action by the board of education in confining distribution of school property insurance to only full time insurance agencies in the city, and assertions that the action virtually clasifies realtors of the city as "bootleggers of insurance," the Santa Ana Realty board, in session at noon, today, passed resolutions vigorously protesting the action of the school board.

"We vigorously protest on the grounds that certain ones of your chosen few are not taxpayers in the city of Santa Ana and should not enjoy the benefits of public business," reads a paragraph in the resolution.

Virtually every realtor carries a department of insurance at his agency headquarters, it was declared.

The resolution also points out that the realty board has offered to the school board without compensation its service in the purchasing of school sites, a service according to figures quoted at the meeting, that has saved the board, and therefore the taxpayers, the sum of $9000 in the past year.

The matter of a recent sale of property to the school board by a realtor, with the latter taking a profit by selling at a figure $600 more than the sum of the option, das discussed and referred to the board of directors for a report at the next meeting.

While the broker who made the profit is a member of the realty board, he was not identified with the committee authorized by the board to negotiate for the purchase of properties for the school board, it was pointed out in discussions.

If you had to fry a dozen chickens you wouldn't fry them all at once

Some would be raw—some would be burnt. One chicken at a time is the best way. And by roasting coffee by their patented, continuous process—a few pounds at a time instead of in bulk—Hills Bros. roast every berry evenly. This process—Controlled Roasting—produces a delicious flavor no other coffee has.

About "his" Christmas

There are two kinds of men that most women will buy Christmas gifts for. One is the man who knows style and is always up to the "last aviation record" in the things he wears — but out of courtesy to you would wear anything you gave him.

The other man is the one who knows little about style and trusts your taste implicity

You want to be right in both cases

That's the nice thing about coming here—you can't make a mistake in neckwear, shirts, hosiery, handkerchiefs. Our style observers keep us right and always in the lead.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

Probably no other virtue is so hardly won and so easily lost as simplicity. This is evidenced in literature and music and art as well as in life.

You are so susceptible to the temptation to play to the galleries just a little and to pose a bit for fear people may not credit you with the degree of heartache which you honestly feel.

As you learn to be more and more concerned that others are making the most of their lives, you will become less self-conscious and correspondingly real, and you will help others more.

BOWERS—At his home, 2010 N Main street, Nov. 29th, 1929, Charles W. Bowers, aged 86 years. Mr. Bowers has been a resident of Santa Ana since 1886, and is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ada Bowers, and two cousins, Dr. C. W. Rairdon of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Belle Cline of Long Beach. Funeral services will be held Saturday, Nov. 30th, at 2 p. m. from Smith and Tuthill's chapel with Rev. George Warmer officiating.

WITTEN—In Santa Ana, Nov. 28, 1929, Frank A. Witten, age 34 years. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Witten Santa Barbara, Calif. Announcement of funeral later by Harrell & Brown, 116 West Seventeenth street.

DRIVER OF CAR HELD PENDING JURY INQUIRY

Frank A. Witten, 34, of 1335 St. Louis avenue, Long Beach, seriously injured early yesterday morning when the automobile in which he was riding with E. R. Taylor, of the same address, collided with a machine driven by C. W. Brown, of 902 East Pine street, Santa Ana, died at 5:45 p.m., yesterday in St. Joseph's hospital.

Little hope was held for his recovery from the time his unconscious form was picked up on the highway at the intersection of Ocean avenue and Stanton road, where the accident occurrel. Deputy Sheriffs Scudder and Fuller brought him to the hospital.

Coroner Charles D. Brown announced today that he would hold an inquest over the body some time tomorrow. The body is in the Harrell and Brown Funeral parlors here.

Taylor, driver of the death car, still is in the Orange County hospital, where he was taken by officers for treatment of injuries he received in the wreck. He is under arrest and is being held pending the verdict of the coroner's jury. He technically is charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law, officers claiming that he failed to make a boulevard stop at the intersection.

Brown also was seriously injured. He is in St. Joseph's hospital, where it was said that his condition today was improved. He suffered a fracture of a vertebra in his back.

Local Briefs

The condition of Don Rothenberger, 34, Orange man, who suffered a broken vertebra in his back when he fell from a scaffold in Orange, Wednesday afternoon, was reported improved in the Santa Ana Valley hospital today. The man was placed in a plaster cast yesterday and will be so confined for the next several weeks, it was said.

PROPOSES CITIES AID AIR CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Oswald F. Schuette, executive secretary of the Radio Protective Association, in a letter to the Federal Radio commission proposes that local communities receive a greater share in determining allocation of broadcasting wavelengths. The Federal government's part under this plan would consist chiefly in allotment of the wavelengths to zones, while States and communities controlle dthe power of the stations and policing of the channels to prevent interference. Actual allotment of the wavelengths would be left to the joint decision of the Federal Radio commission and the local communities.

In an address made by President Hoover to the Fourth National Radio conference, when he was Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Schuette pointed out, the same opinion was voiced.

"The ideal situation," Mr. Hoover said at that time, "would be a traffic regulation by the Federal government to the extent of an allotment of wavelengths and control of power and policing of interference, leaving to each community a large voice in determining who are to occupy the wavelengths assigned to that community."

Soft, wavy hair!

The modern sculptured bobs do wonders to bring out your personality. But like other present-day modes of arranging the hair, they call attention to it. That's why it's so important nowadays to keep your hair soft, lustrous, abundant. The easiest and quickest way to give new lustre and color to hair, which has begun to look dull and lifeless, is with Danderine. And it makes the hair softer, easier to arrange, holds it in place.

Here's all you do. Each time your use your brush just put a little Danderine on it. It removes the oily film from your hair; brings out its natural color; gives it more gloss than brilliantine. Waves "set" with it stay in longer.

Danderine dissolves the crust of dandruff; puts the scalp in the pink of condition. It stops falling hair. A small bottle is enough to show its merit. Start on it tonight.

NO THOUGHT IS GIVEN TO DEATH SAYS HARDING

The holiday added to the interest of the Nazarene revival, according to the pastor, the Rev. U. E. Harding, who is doing his own evangelistic preaching. He was able to be back at his post again last night, after a brief illness, and spoke on "Prepare to Meet Thy God."

The minister said:

"Folks don't like to think or talk about death, but it is appointed unto man to die. We laugh, dance and dine in the face of that cruel monster. This is an age when it is hard to have serious thoughts. The songs we used to sing, the books we read and the plays we saw had a solemnity about them; but today it is the funny paper and the funny side of life, something to make us laugh.

"The radio and the average newspaper is closed to anything that might make people think of death. Many of the radio stations of the land are like sewer pipes, pouring filth and suggestive streams into our beautiful homes and in the minds of our young people. The radio that wants to stand for high morals and spiritual good of the community seems to have the hardest time to get a place on the air."

Before the sermon Earl Wilde, tenor, favored the audience with two solos and one duet, assisted by his wife and Lyle Prescott at the piano.

The pastor will preach tonight on "The Court From Which There Is No Repeal." There will be no Saturday night service, but the revival, which was scheduled to close Sunday night, will continue another week.

COMPLETE DETOUR ON ADAMS STREET

The detour through the river bed at the Adams street crossing of the Santa Ana river, between Fairview and Huntington Beach, is nearing completion, according to Nat Neff county superintendent of roads.

The bridge at this point was closed a week ago last Tuesday by action of the county board of supervisors as unsafe for traffic, after it was disclosed that the supporting piers were badly rotted and were weakened to the extent of constituting a menace to safety.

At the time the bridge was ordered closed to traffic, the supervisors instructed Neff to build the run-around through the bed of the river to care for the traffic temporarily and to prepare plans and specifications for a new bridge, to be submitted for their approval and action.

FAIL TO FIND "GANG"

Deputy sheriffs were called to Buena Park last night when it was reported that a gang of men were "shooting craps" on the main street, but the "gang" was not found.

'FOR A WORTHY CAUSE'

C. C. Chapman, prominent citrus grower in the Fullerton district, is shown below as he made the first contribution in northern Orange county in the 1929 Christmas Seal campaign of the Orange County Tuberculosis campaign. Chapman is receiving the seals from Miss Ruth Page, president of the Fullerton Business and Professional Women's club.

Program of Orange County T. B. Association Lauded by C. C. Chapman

Charles C. Chapman, prominent Southern California citrus grower, was the first to donate a check in the Fullerton district in the Orange County Tuberculosis association's 1928 campaign against the white plague and was the first step in the race to the goal of $35,000 necessary for the continuance of the scientific health program outlined by the Orange County association.

Upon giving the check to the Tuberculosis association Chapman stated:

"I always have been a great believer in the youth of this country and I think that the Orange County Tuberculosis association's fight against the dreaded white plague is one of the most worthy and humanitarian causes.

"The research and preventive work that this organization is doing is of the greatest importance. This stupendous battle against this terrible disease truly is giving the child his heritage of health and a strong body.

Money obtained in the Christmas Seal sale will be used in preventive tuberculosis work in the schools and in the continuance of the work in the preventorium in Santiago canyon and the addition of special service and research work.

DIDN'T FORGET HIM

FORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 28.—After 24 years of faithful service, an old chestnut-colered horse who used to haul his mistress around, has been retired and sent to a farm where he will dine off the fat of the land for the rest of his life. His mistress, Mrs. K. W. Lumbar, 78, too old to take care of him, is keeping him on a farm. She sends a check for $25 every month for his keep.

PATCH-WORK SHOES

Evening slippers from Paris come in lovely colored kids with flower sprays or modernistic designs worked out in patch-work design in other colors and gold and silver.

WINTER, SPRING PLANS MADE BY BROTHERHOOD

Plans for the organization of work for the winter and spring months were made at a meeting of the executive committee of the First Congregational Church Men's brotherhood, held Wednesday in the study of the pastor, the Rev. Perry Shrock it was announced today by H. F. Wahlberg, chairman of the committee. Other members of the committee are A. N. Zerman, John Gowan, W. A. Proctor and W. H Crose.

Men who will have charge of the programs for the first three meetings of the brotherhood next year were announced by A. N. Zerman, chairman of the program committee, as follows: January, John Gowan; February, W. A. Proctor; March, A. N. Zerman.

The December meeting, which will be held in the church at 6:30 Tuesday night, will be in the form of a Father and Son banquet. McKee Fiske, dean of the Santa Ana junior college, will be the speaker and will give an illustrated talk on his visit in the Orient, using movies that were made on the tour. Other speakers on the program will be Bill Friend, representing the boys who will have as his subject "The Ideal Father;" Ralph Smedley, of the Y. M. C. A., whose subject will be "The Ideal Son," and Fred Eley jr., who will give a report on the Older Boys' conference, to be held in Hollywood this week end.

Entertainment features of the program will be presented by John Tessman, Santa Ana sleight-of-hand artist, and Allan Revill, who will have charge of special music.

INQUEST TODAY IN FULLERTON DEATH

Inquest into the death of George Willard Scott, 68, prominent Fullerton contractor, who was killed yesterday morning when he fell from a scaffold in a garage on the Bastenchury ranch, will be held in the Seale Funeral parlors this afternoon, Coroner Charles D. Brown announced today.

Scott, former city councilman in Long Beach, was killed when his head struck a concrete floor in a plunge from the scaffold, where he was working.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

NICE ROPIN'

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28. — Kenneth Jackson, 16-year-old Boy Scout, can toss a lasso with a skill that would make a movie cowboy green with envy. Recently on a trip the boy spied a huge bald eagle within range. He shot out his loop, dropped in over the bird and made it fast. He had to wait for some time for the bird to tire before he could capture it.

EVENING OXFORDS

Some of the most decorative of dance slippers are the delicate new evening oxfords. One pair of green satin has gold heels, gold edges and gold strings which lace up and tie in a golden bow.

GENERATOR IS AWARDED HIGH PRESS RATING

Twenty-two members of the journalism classes of the Santa Ana high school attended the fall convention of the Southern California High School Press association held Wednesday in Long Beach polytechnic high school.

The Santa Ana paper, "The Generator," received high ratings in many divisions of competition and nearly scored several victories. In the race for the vice presidency of the convention for next year, San Diego barely nosed out Santa Ana.

Richard Robbins, editor-in-chief of the Generator, was appointed chairman of a committee to design an appropriate seal for the association.

During the morning and afternoon business sessions and round table discussions were held, while in the evening a play, "White Collars," was witnessed by the delegates.

Many prominent newspapermen addressed the young journalists. The presidency and next convention went to Huntington Park.

Christian Science

"Thanksgiving" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon for Thanksgiving Day in Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text contained this gracious counsel from the Psalms: "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands. Enter into His gates with thanksgiving, and into His courts with praise: be thankful unto Him, and bless His name." The note of joy and gratitude was found also in these Scriptural words in the Responsibe Reading: "Happy is he that hath the God of Jacob for his help, whose hope is in the word his God: . . . which keepeth truth forever: . . . The Lord openeth the eyes of the blind: . . . Praise ye the Lord."

One of the Bible citations in the Lesson-Sermon contained Christ Jesus' words from John 14:21: "He that hath My commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth Me: and he he that loveth Me shall be loved by My Father, and I will love him, and will manifest Myself to him."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," included the following statement by Mary Baker Eddy: "To keep the commandments of our Master and follow His example, is our proper debt to Him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that He has done."

SEDGWICK POST VETS GUESTS OF COMMANDER

Days of the past were lived again in memory as the comrades of Com. J. H. Brown, of Sedgwick post, No. 17, were entertained at a 12 o'clock dinner in the K. of P. hall Wednesday. The commander and his wife were hosts to post comrades and their wives. Eighteen were present. Four of the guests had lived for more than 90 years, Joseph Parks of Garden Grove, the oldest, being 96 years of age.

The tables deflected the good cheer and hospitality of the season. Commander Brown made the speech of welcome and the response was made by H. E. Brown. Short talks were made by F. M. Grigsby and W. J. Lieser. At the suggestion of H. E. Smith and F. M. Grigsby, the host and hostess were given a rising vote of thanks for bringing these old friends and comrades together in so pleasant a manner. Mrs. Brown acted as toastmistress.

Miss Alice Yount gave an interesting description of the organization of the Women's Relief Corps. Mrs. Ida Mitchell brought greetings to the comrades from the W.R.C. Mrs. Maude Sutton, president of the Daughters of Civil War Veterans, responded with greetings from the daughters. Mrs. Brown is both the daughter of a Civil war veteran and a member of the W.R.C.

The happy occasion was brought to a close with a talk given by the Rev. Mr. Smith of Tustin. He spoke of the survivors of the dark days between the years of 1861 to 1865, who are now living, he said, "in the sunset days of life."

Those assisting Mrs. Brown in entertaining were Mrs. Elizabeth Birkhead and Mrs. Gladys Van Hise, who had charge of the decorations for the tables and of the dining room. The kitchen was in charge of Mrs. Helen McArthur, who was assisted by C. F. Miller and J. McArthur.

$1525 Damages Given Plaintiffs In Crash Action

A verdict awarding a total of $1525 in damages was returned late Wednesday afternoon by a jury trying the cases of William J. and Jennie McCullough and Charles A. Cashdollar vs. John F. Michaeli. The plaintiffs sued for a total of $45,550 as the result of any automobile crash at the intersection of Magnolia avenue and Clair street last May.

Personal injuries and special damages were listed by the plaintiffs in the total of nearly $50,000 that was demanded from Michaeli. The awards were as follows: Charles Cashdollar, $500; Jennie McCullough, $900; W. J. McCullough, $125.

The jury required only 50 minutes to reach its verdict for the plaintiffs, leaving the courtroom, over which Judge G. K. Scovel presided, at 3:05 and returning with its verdict at 3:55. S. L. Carpenter was foreman of the jury.

BANK EXPLAINS ITS ACTION IN PROPERTY DEAL

In a statement issued today by Charles Pritchard, trust officer of the First National bank, the receiver of the $600 discrepancy between the amount of $2500 paid by the school board of the city of Santa Ana for a lot at the corner of Birch and Fairview streets, and the amount of $1900 received by the former owner of the property, Will O'Brien, was named as Jack Wallace, real estate dealer, who took an option on the property, title to which was vested in the trust department of the bank which was trustee for O'Brien, and sold the lot to the school board at the advance in price.

"The trust department of the First National bank desires to make a statement in connection with the case, which has come up as a result of the statement made at the school board meeting last Tuesday night," Pritchard stated. "The trust department figured in the deal as the holder of title to the property under the terms of the Will O'Brien liquidation trust in which it had full power to sell and convey title, and as the escrow agent in the transfer of the properties and money.

"We had been trying to sell the lot for some time and on August 15, when Jack Wallace asked for an option on the place at $1900, we were glad to give it to him as it was to be a cash deal if he exercised the option. I handled the matter and gave him the option. Then on August 28 he came into the office and exercised his option and authorized the trust department to deed the lot in accordance with orders from R. H. Drake when we had received $2500 for his (Wallace's) account.

"Drake came in the same day and signed an escrow in the name of the board of education by R. H. Drake and deposited in escrow an order for $2500 to be paid when we delivered a grant deed in favor of the Church of Christ. Officials of the Church of Christ also signed the escrow ordering us to deliver from them a deed in favor of the Santa Ana high school district of Orange county covering a lot adjoining the Julia Lathrop junior high school when we could deliver to them a deed for the lot at the corner of Birch and Fairview. Conditions of the escrow included moving of their church from the lot next to the Lathrop site to the Fairview lot, setting the building up in good repair and putting in lawn and shrubbery.

"The whole deal was open and above board so far as the trust department was concerned and our books and records will show that we acted as ordered. O'Brien did not own the property—it was owned by the trust department under the terms of the liquidation trust. We gave an option on it at a price we were glad to get and later carried out the instructions received in the escrow order after the option was exercised.

"Mr. Drake said at the time of the transaction that he had priced property just to the north and that this price seemed high, but that it was not far out of line and that this particular lot was the only one on which the church board would make the deal."

The school board had made the deal with the church board to get possession of the property adjoining the Lathrop grounds to provide for expansion there in the future.

How To Lose Two Dozen Pounds of Fat

At the Same Time Gain in Physical Vigor and Youthfulness and Swiftly Possess a Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes That Sparkle With Glorious Health.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

B sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are tuned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from any live druggist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back. —Adv.

250 Pupils Take Part In Pageant In Brea School

BREA, Nov. 29.—A Thanksgiving pageant was presented by the pupils of Laurel school Wednesday afternoon, about 250 children taking part. Every room was represented. The program consisted of Pilgrim plays, Indian drills and turkey and vegetable drills.

SMELTZER

SMELTZER, Nov. 29.—E. Ray Moore spent several days in Los Angeles at an insurance convention.

Miss Fennemore, of Compton, has returned to her home after an overnight visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Grana. Mrs. Grana accompanied Miss Fennemore home on Monday and was entertained as a dinner guest by Miss Fennemore's sister, Mrs. Hern.

Mr. and Mrs. David Holsclaw were entertained as Sunday dinner guests by Mr. and Mrs. George Harding, of Bolsa, brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. Holsclaw.

Mrs. J. A. Murdy attended on Monday afternoon in Anaheim the funeral of Mrs. Louise Vogt, of Westminster.

Mrs. Iva Beck, who is employed at the warehouse, is absent this week, one of her twin sons, Kenneth, being ill with pneumonia. Mrs. Nell Parr is taking Mrs. Beck's place at the warehouse.

The Smeltzer Lima Bean Growers' association warehouse closed down Wednesday evening for the Thanksgiving day holiday.

Charles Parr and son, Charles Parr jr., attended the Huntington Beach-Cypress ball game at Cypress Sunday.

C. M. Abbey, of Victorville, came Sunday to spend the week in the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Applebury. He was accompanied here by his granddaughter, Mrs. Carl Nell, of Whittier. Louis McClary, of Hollywood, an uncle of Charles Applebury, was a Monday visitor in the Applebury home and Mr. Applebury accompanied him home that evening and on Tuesday they made the trip on to Delano, returning that evening.

of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parr.

One-half mile of new electric line is being put in this week by the Edison company from the main line to the Charles Applebury ranch.

Mary and Bob To Open Opera House In Southern City

Mary and Bob, the travelling sweethearts of the True Story hour, are officially invited to open a new opera house in a southern city tonight, when the True Story hour goes on the air at 9 o'clock, over WABC and the coast-to-coast stations of the Columbia system, including KHJ.

A delightful musical program will be broadcast, and then someone discovers a tell-tale whisp of smoke coming from behind some unused scenery. Quick action by Bob saves the evening, and then, when the excitement is over Mary and Bob hear a glamorous tale from one of the city's promising business men.

The True Story radio audience will thrill to this story of a girl who lived 'across the railroad tracks' from the 'right' side of the town.

Noted Comedians On Program For Brown Footlites

Georgie Price, popular comedian, Waller and Razof, writers of the show, "Hot Chocolates," Margaret Speaks and Helen House, song team; Buster Brown and Tige, and William Wirges and his orchestra will entertain on the third program of the Brownbilt Footlites. It will go on the air at 5 p. m., coast time, today, over Station WABC and its associated stations, including KHJ.

Georgie Price, comedian, singer, composer, and vaudeville favorite was born on the East Side of New York City. He got his start singing an impromptu concert at a fashionable wedding.

Waller and Razof, writers of the show, "Hot Chocolates," now playing on Broadway, will offer some compositions from their newest show, "Load O' Coal."

WAS AT POINT OF EXHAUSTION

"Six bottles of this wonderful new Sargon medicine made me well and strong again after I'd been trying for five years to recover my health.

MRS. LUCY B. ERRETT

"My trouble started with an acid stomach and constipation. Nearly everything I ate soured and formed gas, and I became so nervous that I never did sleep well. I hardly had the strength to do my housework and my whole system was so rundown, I was almost at the point of exhaustion.

"Sargon strengthened me wonderfully right from the start and my troubles disappeared almost like magic! The acid condition of my stomach was corrected; everything agrees with me fine and the Sargon Pills, that go along with the tonic, regulated my bowels perfectly. My nerves are so much better that I sleep peacefully and get up and go about my housework in cheerful spirits. I'll never tire of praising this wonderful treatment."—Mrs. Lucy B. Errett, 729 College St., Los Angeles.

Sargon is sold in Santa Ana by Schramm-Johnson Drug Co.—Adv.

COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, Nov. 29.—J. C. Payne, formerly a realtor and resident of Costa Mesa and still a property holder here, recently spent several days around town looking about his business interests and calling on old friends. Mr. and Mrs .Payne are living in Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Sierk's home on Bay street was the scene of a home coming Thanksgiving, when relatives both from Long Beach and Ventura gathered in their home. Mrs. Sierk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chivers at present are living in Australia.

Among those of Costa Mesa attending the boxing matches this week were E. R. Stumbo, Lloyd Hicks and Jesse Stewart sr.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Corey are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson, of Casmalia, near Santa Maria. Mrs. Wilson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Corey.

Mrs. Emma Lowrey is sojourning for a few days with a daughter, Mrs. Ruby Simpson, of Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pilkington have in their home as guests, a brother of Mrs. Pilkington, C. D. Caddell, and family of Los Angeles. The Caddells will leave soon for a trip to the middle west, making their first stop at Phoenix.

Friends of the Rev. and Mrs. Wilfred Rowntree have been informed that the Rowntrees have left Washington, D. C., where they have spent several days on business, and will be at their home on Victoria avenue soon.

Mrs. M. W. Lillard, who has been in the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. R. Fuller, for some time, has gone to Los Angeles to spend some time with friends.

The E. A. Spaulding home here was the scene of a pretty homecoming Thanksgiving, when Harold Spaulding and family of Pasadena, and Edgar Spaulding and family, of Los Angeles, came down for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Beardsley were guests in the H. R. Fuller home on Fairview avenue at Thanksgiving dinner.

The Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Hasse motored to Upland yesterday to be with relatives for Thanksgiving.

Roy Davis, manager of the Costa Mesa bank, with his family spent yesterday with relatives in Brea.

Miss Esther Tallman, who is teaching in a southern California city school, is taking a short vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Tallman.

The Misses Mary Stearns, Alice Mellott and Ethel Kinley are at home from Teachers' Training college at San Diego to spend the holiday with their respective families.

Vernon Coyner, one of the fancy flowering bulb growers of Costa Mesa, residing on Santa Ana avenue at 20th street, delivered a large order of choice flowers and ferns to a Long Beach firm Wednesday. Mr. Coyner is specializing in gladioluses.

BODY POISONS MENACE HEALTH

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Will Rid Your System of Them

By neglecting constipation, body poisons get in their deadly work. Headaches, listlessness, cloudy complexions, which are the first signs, soon are followed by factors that wreck health, ruin ambitions and steal beauty.

You can guard against constipation with a simple remedy — Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It is a delicious cereal — 100% bran — that brings sure, natural relief from this widespread evil. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because it is a bulk food. It sweeps the intestines clean of poisonous wastes and stimulates normal action.

Results are guaranteed. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Serve it with milk or cream, fruits or honey added. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Use it in cooking—recipes are on the package.

Don't neglect constipation. Begin eating ALL-BRAN today. Sold by all grocers. Served in hotels, dining-cars and restaurants. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

Twenty-five years ago was published "The Story of My Life" by Helen Keller, who was then a sophomore at Radcliffe, the only deaf and blind person in the history of the world who had ever attempted to compete with the seeing and hearing on their own grounds and on their own terms. Today the world knows what a triumph Helen Keller has made of her life. In "Midstream" we have the story of her maturity.

Scarcely had she left school and opened her typewriter in the sleepy little village of Wrentham when a summons came to speak in behalf of the blind, a summons which she could not regard. Since that day she has been actively at work for "The American Foundation for the Blind," but she has found time for a thousand other things. She has acted in vaudeville and in the motion pictures; she rides, swims, goes up in airplanes, camps, attends theaters, "listens" to music by feeling vibrations on a sounding board, and enjoys practically all of the pleasures of the normal person.

Interesting Friends

Most interesting of all are Helen Keller's friends. First in her affections was Alexander Graham Bell, who came even before her teacher and remained to the end devotedly hers. She visited him in Washington and Nova Scotia and met his brilliant friends, like Langley, whose conversation was spelled into her hand by Dr. Bell's own skillful fingers. He visited her in Boston and the story of the devotion between the world-famous man and the little girl he befriended is beautifully told.

Mark Twain came later in her life, but he is hardly less beloved. In what she says about him she is at her best. She writes with charm, with wit, with penetration, and deep feeling, one of the finest tributes that has ever been paid to Mark Twain. Other famous people who appear are Dr. William Allen Neilson, president of Smith college, "Copey," Edison, Ford, Burbank, thinking, is her teacher, Anne Mansfield Sullivan.

This is the story of the most re- Caruso, Charlie Chaplin, Andrew Carnegie and many others, the greatest of whom to her way of markable woman in the world and of her almost incredible achievements. It is a wealth of experience, a lesson of faith, and an inspiration of courage.

Rare Sympathy

Every reader of Samuel Scoville's books knows that it is not nature lore alone that endears his work. His Audubon-like observation of birds and beasts and wilderness is animated by a rare sympathy and a racy fund of humor. Especially is this true of his new volume, "Wild Honey."

Samuel Scoville jr., is by profession a lawyer. At the same time he has made for himself an enviable name among American naturalists who write with charm and engrossing interest of the denizens of the wilds in their native habitats.

Mr. Scoville's forbears for generations have lived at West Cornwall, Conn. He has a summer home there, a cabin in the Pine Barrens some 30 miles from Philadelphia, and a house at Sullivan, Maine, near Bar Harbor. In these, and in a dozen other equally familiar to him, but less accessible spots, he observes wild life and writes of what he sees with inimitable charms.

He is most at home in out-of-the way spots; the Pine Barrens, the Okefinokee Swamps, a 400-foot rocky ledge where only a falcon would live. Each year, he says, he visits a bog in New Jersey full of orchids, a rattlesnake den in Connecticut, a mountain full of rare birds among the Poconos, a hidden trout brook in the Berkshires. His art lies in the knowing explorations of these remote spots and in the unusual way he can picture them and their inhabitants to the stay-at-home. "There comes a message," he writes, "in the open among the wild folk that never comes to one in the shut." It is this message which is the very heart of his latest book.

"Wild Honey" Best Work

"Wild Honey" sums up the best of Mr. Scoville's recent work. It is a rare book of delight with the very breath of woods in it. The chill of winter and the heat of summer is in it. The book is notable in another respect: to it Mr. Emmerson Tuttle has contributed 12 distinguished etchings. Mr. Tuttle is known as one of the foremost out-of-door etchers in America, and his illustrations are perfectly in harmony with Mr. Scoville's exceptional prose.

Pre-eminent among the 600 manuscripts submitted in the competition, of greater magnitude than most autobiographies, more appealing as it is more lively than the studied biographies of remote figures, such was the opinion with the Atlantic judges conferred the prize of $5000 for the "most interesting biography of any kind, sort, or description" upon "Grandmother Brown's Hundred Years," by Harriet Connor Brown.

This is the life story of an American woman who lived from 1827 to 1927, a span which embraces most of our history as a nation. Her early associations and the talk of her elders take us back before the Revolution and in the happenings of her full and many years we see as no history book could show us, the intimate and personal side of what have now come to be landmarks in the country's growth. The pioneering to the Northwest Territory, Aaron Burr, and Blennerhassett's dream, the abolitionist movement, the Civil war, the life along the great rivers which bore the burden of migration, the farm development of the West, the temperance movement, the Chicago World Fair, the Atlanta and Niagara expositions, Roosevelt's trust busting, and so down to the World war and the days when Grandma—now with a broken hip and confined to a wheel chair of her own designing—watched at the window the lives of her children and grandchildren, so much more easy than her own.

The biography is principally in the form of a dialogue which actually took place at the close of the old lady's career. Her youngest daughter-in-law, Harriet Connor Brown, sat beside her in her Iowa home and by adroit questioning and rapid reporting took down from Grandmother's lips the account of her life in her homely, vigorous phrases, capable of so much humor and tenderness, courage and sadness. The result is that Grandmother's family, a race of Olympians in homespun and the communities in which they dwelt come to life in a way that could be achieved by no other means. The pattern of their lives is bright with colorful incidents, and against such a stirring American background we follow the single and splendid thread of Grandmother's own career.

FLEET VISITED BY 90 PUPILS OF H. B. SCHOOL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 29.—As a feature of the visual education course conducted by Miss Elsie Chambers of the elementary school, 90 children of the eighth grade were taken at the expense of the school to see the battleship fleet this week. Supt. C. B. Baldwin, Miss Elsie Chambers, Miss Mildred Payne, Miss Gail Littlejohn, Mrs. Jane Austin, Harold Boos, of the school staff, and the following mothers made the trip: Mrs. Joseph Vavra, Mrs. George Miller and Mrs. Will H. Jones.

Superintendent Baldwin and the school staff are broadening the visual education idea at the schools here. The theory is that the students taken through the battleships and visiting the fleet at anchor can get first hand information and form accurate ideas of battleships and fleets and learn more in a few hours on a ship than they could learn from books with much hard study. Many other trips are being planned for the school term.

LIONS

True Stories of the Ferocity of the African Lion

By Martin Johnson Author of "Safari"

Perhaps she was more correct than she thought; for the two elder lions might well have been related to the other three. We backed slowly away from the young lion, feeling lucky not to draw his charge and stopped to let the older ones draw up. When we did this the young lion gave a final threatening growl and started up the hill, followed by the lioness who had been hiding. So there was to be no brawl, at any rate.

When the two old ones did not stop, we started the car and followed them at a distance of about a hundred feet. They both glanced back over their shoulders as if curious to know why a rhino should pursue them, but kept on without breaking their gait.

Presently they stopped to investigate us more closely. When the old lioness started away again the lion, after hesitating for a moment, trotted after her. We followed again, expecting that they would do the usual thing and go into a nearby donga and wait under cover until they had made us out. As they were neither frightened nor hostile this would be good and customary lion tactics.

The lioness did enter the donga; but for some unaccountable reason the big old lion did not follow her. He made no sound, and absolutely no indication of hostility escaped his perfect poise. After a brief reflection, he seemed to think some sort of stratagem was required. Instead of following the lioness he kept on the low ridge parallel to the donga and ran along for a few hundred yards. Coming to an open space in the shallow ravine he trotted down and across and out on the open plain beyond.

We had absolutely no cause to expect trouble. As the old fellow had a magnificent mane and a fine build I wanted to get some pictures of him, if possible. So I had Osa follow him with the car. But he had more staying power, or at least more patience, than I had given him credit for. He led us a merry chase for half a mile across the plain until another donga showed up ahead. At the edge of it he paused and growled a warning.

I suppose that we should have reasoned that he would not be so theatrical as the young lion, and that a warning from such a patriarch was one to be heeded. But both Osa and I had become so enthusiastic about him by this time that we not only wanted pictures but we had decided that he should be one of the two or three lions that we planned to take home with us.

"You can get him if you want," I told her.

"You bet I want him!" she exclaimed. "Just look at his mane!"

So while the lion was standing there still growling Osa hopped out with her rifle in hand. The distance between her and the lion was perhaps one hundred yards, too short for real safety.

I say this because a lion will charge from a distance of over two hundred yards when in open country. He may come at only a trot during the early part of his charge, but he soon breaks into a gallop that outspeeds a fast horse. I am told by men who have taken time that the charging lion can cover the last hundred yards in about three seconds.

Roosevelt observed that a horse standing a hundred yards from a lion will be overtaken before it can get into its full gallop.

When Osa hopped out of the car the lion turned and trotted slowly away, looking back over his shoulder. He may have instinctively tried to lure her far enough from the car to avoid having to meet more than one enemy at a time.

She followed, running faster than the lion did and so overtak-

MANY PROBLEMS OF SCHOOLS DISCUSSED

BY ELWOOD SQUIRES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENT, Nov. 28. — The school problems of California will be taken to Washington, D. C., for consideration at a national meeting of state educational superintendents and commissioners in December, State Superintendent of Education Vierling Kersey announced today.

Federal Commissioner of Education William John Cooper, formerly state superintendent of education in California, has called the meeting for the purpose of conducting a general discussion of problems facing educators in the United States.

"With its rapidly growing population, California has many problems which I shall present at the national meeting," said Kersey.

"Not the least of these is the question of the future of our junior colleges and state teachers college. Linked with this question is that of the forming of four year colleges from existing junior colleges. It is a problem which affects both the educational and financial interest of the state and one which must be solved. I shall ask the national meeting to aid me in finding a plan for its solution."

Education opportunities in California requires equalizing, Kersey declared. With this goes the difficulty of placing money devoted to education where it is most needed. Speaking of this, Kersey said:

"It is a fact that there must be an equalization of educational opportunities in California. Our country districts need more education and more money. The cities are generally well provided for, but the less prosperous regions are under a handicap in educating their children.

"This condition exists all over the United States and I am hopeful of exchanging ideas with other educators on the subject."

Aeronautics, radio, and a host of new subjects are being taught in a haphazard way in high schools of California, Kersey believes. They demand stabilization, he said, and this subject will be discussed at Washington. Teachers for these subjects are now largely being taken out of the particular profession and Kersey thinks it possible that they may be trained by our school system for the work, instead of being brought in from the industry.

Administration of schools and the size of units under one administratiive head will be taken to the national capital by Kersey as a moot question. The "distance" problem of students and enlarging of the junior high school system will also by presented by him.

Should teachers be as highly trained as doctors, lawyers, engineers and other professional persons- This is another question which the state superintendent wants considered at Washington.

"Some educators feel that we must make a profession of teaching and start training prospective teachers for this profession when they enter our universities and colleges. Others contend that we must not back down on the present system of providing a broad education with a short period of actual instruction in the business of teaching," Kersey concluded.

Generally speaking, women float easier on water than men. This is because their bones are lighter and a larger per cent of their bodies is adipose.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Day and daughter, Miss Phyllis and Julia, and son, John Day, motored to San Diego Sunday.

Francis Penhall, Judge Bentley, Harry Penhall and Raymond Penhall were among local men who attended the playoff between the Huntington Beach and Cypress ball teams Sunday, and which for a second time resulted in a tie.

Mrs. Ruth Penhall and parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walton, and brother, Charles Walton, motored to Whittier Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. P. Heil entertained as evening dinner guests in their home, Mrs. Heil's mother, Mrs. Brown, who had just returned from the north, and her brother, Junior Brown, and family of Tustin.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Day and daughter and son, Annabelle and Herbert, and Mrs. Day's mother, Mrs. Ella Penhall, spent Sunday in Corona, where they visited in the F. C. Day home.

Miss Clara Miller, of Long Beach, returned Monday to Long Beach after a week end visit in the home of her sister, Mrs. Linna Loomis.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris entertained as guests over Saturday night and Sunday, Mrs. Mary Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. William Osbourn and two children, of Taft. Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Jackson, friends from Glendale, were entertained as dinner guests by Mr. and Mrs. Morris.

Mrs. Winifred Morris attended a bridge party and luncheon given Monday in Huntington Beach by Mrs. Lynn Robb.

Mrs. Hilma Huddleston, kindergarten teacher of the Westminster school, is ill in the home of her mother, Mrs. Martin, in Huntington Beach with scarlet fever.

The Pritchard home in New Westminster is under quarantine for scarlet fever.

The Westminster county branch library will not open again until th eprevailing scarlet fever epidemic has passed and school is reopened. It is possible that the local schools will not reopen on next Monday as planned.

Two more families in this school district have been placed under quarantine, those of Elsworth Skinner, where two of the children are ill, and of W. M. Schmidt at Midway City where one of the sons of the family has the disease.

Mrs. Ethel Buck returned Sunday from a motor trip to Hanford, where she went on Saturday accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Mary Johnson, of Long Beach. They visited Mrs. Buck's mother, Mrs. McKnight, a former local resident, with whom Mrs. Johnson will remain for a while.

Mrs. W. B. McCoy and son, Bryce McCoy, motored to Corona Sunday, spending the day with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McCoy and son, Bryce McCoy, and Mr. McCoy's sister, Miss Jessie McCoy, attended the funeral Sunday, of a cousin, Wells McCoy, at Beaumont. The deceased was a pioneer Westminster resident, being a son of Dr. James McCoy, a pioneer physician in this section. It is about 40 years since the deceased resided here.

Members of the "Tuxus gild" Sunday school class of Mrs. Clarence Groves met for an evening at the church hall and worked upon the rugs whic hthey are making for Mrs. R. A. Weld. A short social time during which refreshments were served followed the hour's work. Those present were Marguerite McGuire, Delcine Baker, Elenore McGarvin, Vera Stone, Lucille Carpenter, Mildred Kilday, Lucille Grow, Anna Weld, Hattie Edward and Mrs. Groves.

Mrs. C. B. McCall have gone to Burbank to remain until Saturday with Mr. McCall's brother, E. F. McCall, and wife.

Chester Lee Hemstreet, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hemstreet, who has been ill the past six weeks, is allowed up fifteen minutes each day by the attending physician. His recovery is very slow.

Mr. and Mrs. Rene Gaeyens of the Hellman ranch have a baby daughter in their home, whose birth occurred November 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Falcke entertained as their house guests for two days, Mr. Falcke's sister, Mrs. Mamie Benton, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Matthiesen, and her daughter, Shirley Lou, of Reno, Nevada.

Members of the Westminster Gun club came Tuesday evening from Los Angeles, Pasadena and Santa Monica for a turkey dinner at the club.

The second nomination of officers of the Aloha Rebekah lodge was held at Tuesday evening's lodge meeting. Election of officers is scheduled for December 10.

The noble grand of the Aloha lodge, Mrs. May Mansperger, presented four veteran pins at Tuesday's meeting, the four members receiving them being Mrs. Alice Hare, who has been a member for 25 years; Mrs. Etta Wright and Mrs. Nellie Murdy of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Nellie Morgan, of Westminster who have belonged 15 years.

TUSTIN

TUSTIN, Nov. 29. — Mr. and Mrs. William Kneen of Los Angeles were week-end guests in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crawford and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Crawford.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Watson, of Mountain View drive, have purchased a large lot on Yorba street from A. R. Morris and expect to build there soon.

"WET" GASOLINE

..what an infernal nuisance on a cold morning

NOT wet with water—just simply loaded with too-heavy fractions of petroleum—that's "wet" gasoline. It can't vaporize in a cold engine.

You "choke it" until the motor gurgles. And finally you go missing and spitting and jerking down the street.

Why tolerate it? Why accept "winter grades" of "wet" gasoline any more than summer grades?

There is a "dry" gas—one that starts on half choke and warms up the balkiest motor in half a moment. And the best part about Shell 400, this quick starting "dry" gas, is that it cuts down your oil dilution.

Drive with it a thousand miles and you'll find your oil has very little gasoline in it—not over 10%. But worry through a thousand miles on "wet" gasoline and you'll likely find 40% or even 50% crankcase dilution—caused by gasoline running down the cylinder walls into the oil.

Select a convenient yellow and red Shell pump. Fill with Shell 400 when your tank is low—and see how much quicker and easier you get started the following morning.

BLOW YOUR BREATH ON A COLD MIRROR

. . . that's what happens to "wet" gasoline in a cold motor—it condenses in droplets on the cylinder walls. "Dry" gas, on the other hand, stays vaporized better and therefore burns more cleanly

LIONS

True Stories of the Ferocity of the African Lion

By Martin Johnson Author of "Safari"

ing him until the distance between them was not over 75-yards.

"Don't get so close," I yelled at her, thoroughly disturbed at what I sak.

Seizing my rifle out of Bukari's hand I sprang from the car and ran after her.

There was no time to reason out what might happen; but I knew the terrible consequences if the lion came for Osa and she failed to drop him at the first or second shot.

"Wait!" I called to Osa.

But she kept on, and the lion kept on—though he now slowed almost to a walk. I think Osa was about to stop and take aim hoping to get in a good shot before the situation became more complicated. Surely she had every reason to believe that the lion was taking the passive side in the action.

Then, suddenly, and absolutely without warning, the lion whirled about and came full speed for Osa.

I think my heart stopped absolutely still at the sight. But she stood her ground. Her rifle flashed to her shoulder and she fired when the lion was about half way to her, or something more than thirty yards away. However, it was a flash shot and she had not time to take any sort of aim. I saw by the unchecked speed of the lion that either she had missed or that the bullet had not struck in a vital spot.

It is just at this point that so many gruesome tragedies have occurred in lion hunting. The one who has shot at and missed the lion hasn't time to get in another good shot before the lion makes his final spring, and even if the hunter does shoot again and strikes a fatal spot, such is the terrific vitality of the lion that he will close in and maul the person's body before he dies.

I had an instantaneous and horrible vision of that last frightful [illegible] before I could get my rifle to my shoulder and pull the trigger. I make no pretense at being an unerring marksman, and the lion was moving at the speed of a greyhound. In a little more than the time it would take a bullet to reach him he would be upon Osa, tearing at her helpless body with his long, sharp claws and closing his fangs upon her head. For that is the way a lion kills; he seizes his victim with his fore paws and then bites either at the neck or face. Natives who have been killed by lions are often found with their skulls punctured by the powerful teeth of the beast.

I wasn't conscious of aiming. Time was too short to be strictly conscious of any act. I fired.

I suppose all four of us, Osa and I and the two boys, must have presented a picture of extraordinary concentration at that dramatics moment. And our relief must have been equally extraordinary. For simultaneously, it seemed with the discharge of my gun, the lion rolled over dead. His limp body lay so close to Osa that she could reach out and touch it with her rifle. More by luck, I think, than any thing else, my bullet had struck him squarely in his forehead and penetrated his brain, killing him instantly.

A momentary weakness came over me; Osa seemed paralyzed. But the next instant she came to with a surprising reaction. She turned on me like a flash and cried angrily:

"Now, why did you do that, Martin? I wanted to shoot him! He was my lion! And now you've gone and killed him. In another second I'd have shot again and he would have been my second lion and I would have promised never to have shot another!"

All I could do was to mop my brow. Then weakly I lied:

"You did shoot him, Osa. It was your bullet killed him."

But she was inconsolable and while the boys skinned the beast she complained heavily at what she called my "lack of self-control."

When we got back to camp she had the bullet cut out to prove that it was my .405 that did the trick and not her Springfield. That evening while she was watching the skin being scraped of all flesh by Ponda Ponda, one of our skinners, a Wakoma came past and stopped to look at the trophy. He had just come into camp, and knowing that I practically never shoot because I am always busy with my "Magic Box," he said, in a friendly tone to Osa:

"Mama, piga Simba?" meaning, "Did the lady shoot the lion?"

Osa whirled on him and said angrily: "No, Papa Simba!"

The exchange made the boys laugh, which made Osa madder than ever. Natives out here on the plains don't use the polite "Memsab" and "Bwana"—Madame and Sir—but have caught the simple "Papa" and "Mama." (They pronounce it "poppo" and "momma," which makes it more comical than ever.)

Osa says she is "Mama" to half the blacks in Africa! However, I was glad enough to have her alive at all that night and I had a sneaking feeling that she ought to be of the same mind..

MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, Nov. 29.—A new road is being oiled and brought to grade on the extreme eastern boundary of Midway City, the regular 60-foot width being observed. The street connects Bolsa boulevard and Hazard road on the north.

An orchestra has been organized for Midway City under the supervision of Mrs. Lyle Noble, president of the Midway City Social and Civic club, and the first meeting was held Tuesday evening.

MASAI HUNTERS OF SERENGETI PLAINS

They use poisoned arrows that kill the animal but do not render it unfit for food. Once one of them demonstrated how the poison worked. With the end of the poisoned point he cut a small gash on another's back, bringing blood. The Masai explained that just so long as the blood flowed it was all right. But a puncture in the flesh where the wound closed up and no blood flowed would be fatal.

SANTA ANA WINS JAYCEE FOOTBALL TITLE

Saints, Covina In Poly Field Contest Tomorrow

GAME WITH COLTS CLOSES SEASON FOR HIGH SCHOOL; FULLERTON TILT OFF CARD

Football will sing its swansong here tomorrow afternoon. The last kickoff, the last forward pass and the last touchdown will be made at Poly field where Coach "Tex" Oliver's powerful Santa Ana high school eleven, defeated only once this year, meets Covina, strongest of all Southern California's free-lance aggregations. The kickoff is scheduled for 2:15.

There will be no post-season conflict with Fullerton. When the morrow's struggle is completed the Saints will store their moleskins in mothballs and await the arrival of another autumn.

The tentatively scheduled joust with Fullerton was scratched off the boards of possibility yesterday when the Indians defeated Whittier, 13 to 7, while Muir Tech of Pasadena was losing to Monrovia, 25 to 0, in another Foothall league tussle.

This gave Fullerton the undisputed championship of the conference and the right to enter the playoffs for the Southern California title.

S. A. Out of Title Race

Santa Ana lost its opportunity to contend for the crown last Saturday when it was beaten by San Diego, 6 to 0, in one of the most stubbornly contested matches ever played here. The Saints' downfall automatically gave the title to Long Beach. The Jackrabbits will meet Huntington Park, champions of the Bay league, at Wrigley field December 7.

The Olivermen came through the gruelling San Diego ordeal in splendid physical condition and the Saint coach will be able to start his strongest lineup against Covina.

Lloyd Nuzum was too weak from the flu to do much playing last Saturday but he is listed as a probable starter in the backfield tomorrow. He probably will replace Don Crumley although Jimmie Hall also is expected to get in for some work.

The other backs will be Al Reboin, Jack Fredericks and Harold Pangle.

Blower Starts at End

"Toy" Blower, the sophomore whose defensive work against the Hilltoppers stamped him as the most promising end in local history, is certain to be at one of the flanks. Asa Herren will start on the other wing.

Five seniors will be playing their last high school games in the heart of the line. "Bud" Hartman and Harry Clayton will be at tackle, Marvin Johnston and Captain Bruce Tarver at guard and Wayne Vance at center.

Coached by Ted ("Butter") Gorrell, former all-coast guard at the University of Southern California, the Covina Colts come here with an impressive season record that has but one dark spot, a 6 to 0 loss to Huntington Beach. Colt partisans laugh that one off. They claim they underestimated the Oilers' strength and met them four days after having played a hard game with Bakersfield which they defeated, 6 to 0.

TROJANS READY FOR TILT WITH COUGAR ELEVEN

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29. — The Washington State Cougars will arrive here today and take a light workout for their game with Southern California in the Coliseum Saturday.

Although the Trojans are favored to beat the charges of Coach "Babe" Hollingbery, the U. S. C. coaches were not certain of victory.

The State team has an impressive record this year, having lost but one game, a 14 to 0 battle to California. The Cougars, however, rushed the Bears at every stage of the game and the issues was in doubt throughout the contest.

Hollingbery places most of his ground-gaining faith in Elmer Schwartz, fullback, who is leading the scorers of the Pacific Coast. The quarterback this year is a youth named Buckley, said to be a worthy successor to the great "Butch" Meeker and Ted Rohwer of past years.

Howard Jones, coach of the Trojans, is expected to shift his lineup several times during the game. Duffield and Saunders will work at quarterback and Moses, Musick and Shaver will all play the fullback post during part of the contest.

Harry Edelson, star blocking halfback, should be in shape for the first time since the Nevada game.

OREGON SCORES ON GAELS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—Although Oregon yesterday succeeded in scoring on St. Mary's—the first team this year that has done so—the Saints remain today the only undefeated eleven on the Pacific coast. The final score was 31 to 6.

Santa Ana Wins Conference Grid Flag Undisputed

There was nobody today to dispute Santa Ana's claim to the Southern California Junior College conference football championship.

While the Dons were eliminating Fullerton from the race at Poly field yesterday, the Long Beach Vikings pulled a surprise by defeating Pasadena, 9 to 7. The Vikings scored their victory in the last two minutes of play when Meyer kicked a drop from the 28-yard line.

Glendale also furnished an upset by defeating the powerful Compton Tartars. Final standings and scores follow:

ARIZONA SWAMPS POETS

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 29.—The Poet football team from Whittier college proved no match for the University of Arizona team here yesterday and lost by a 40 to 0 score. Arizona, beaten two weeks ago by Pomona college, took no chances on another California team and opened up on the Poets at the opening whistle.

SANTA ANA COLLEGE CLOSES GREATEST FOOTBALL SEASON; COACH BILL COOK GIVEN CREDIT FOR SUCCESS OF TEAM

Coach Bill Cook and his Dons were the toast of Santa Ana today.

And they richly deserved all the nice things that were being said about them.

They closed the greatest and most successful season in Santa Ana junior college history yesterday.

Triumphant over Fullerton, 19 to 13, by reason of a last half attack that swept everything before it, they became undisputed champions of the Southern California Junior College conference.

There was nothing lucky or flukey about the victory.

The Dons fought hard for everything they got. To win they came from far behind, so far behind that nobody gave them a chance.

Coach Bill Cook gets most of the credit. His players say he deserves ALL of it. The Dons would fight to the last drop for their little skipper. WOULD they? They did yesterday.

Prospects weren't so good at the beginning of the season. The Dons had a pretty good line but that was about all. Cook kept working, pegging away. First he constructed a defense, the best in the conference. Then he perfected an offense that was built around a lot of players who at the outset appeared only mediocre.

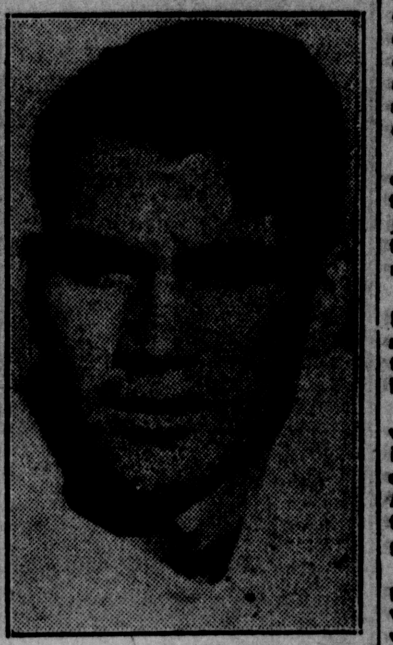
Cook was patient. He worked, worked, worked. It was a tedious, thankless task. But just when everything looked the bluest—little Bill got his reward.

The Dons also have a great leader, a real captain in Herald Hylton, all-conference tackle. How the Dons will miss him next season!

The great championship team will be shattered by graduations in June. The entire line, except Al Kluthe and Ed Adams, has played its last for the Dons. Many of the backs go, too.

It was a long, hard campaign for the champions. It was a tough, uphill fight. But what a wonderful climax to a remarkable season. The Dons know now it was worth all they gave.

COACH BILL COOK



CAPTAIN HERALD HYLTON

FITZGERALD TO TOP S. A. RING SHOW TUESDAY

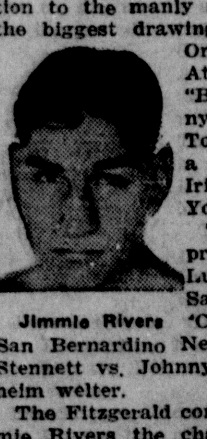
Freddie Fitzgerald, one of the country's premier young welterweights, meets Indian Jimmie Rivers, of Fullerton, in a 10-round main event at the Orange County Athletic club next Tuesday night.

This, the most expensive headline bout ever offered by Promoter H. T. Foust, will be supported by a card strictly worthy of the feature attraction. Foust made public his program here today.

Zenaydo Chavez, hard-hitting Santa Ana Mexican who has been inactive for several months, will appear in the six-round semi-windup. His opponent will be Chris Martinez, San Bernardino welter, who recently fought a slashing draw in Santa Ana with Billy Clark.

Moreno on Card Too

Another popular youngster who has been on the shelf for some time returns to action in the special event, another six-rounder. He is Tony Moreno, Placentia's contribution to the manly art and one of the biggest drawing cards at the Orange County Athletic club. "Baby-Face Tony" will meet Tommy McGough a scrappy little Irisher from New York.



Jimmie Rivers

The first two preliminaries are Luis Echeveste, Santa Ana, vs. "Chalky" Wright, San Bernardino Negro, and "Tex" Stennett vs. Johnny Nandez, Anaheim welter.

The Fitzgerald contest gives Jimmie Rivers the chance for which he has been longing. It brings him against a high class Eastern fighter whose record is an open book to those who follow fisticuffs closely, and a Rivers victory over such opposition would stamp the Fullerton Indian as a legitimate uptown attraction.

Rivers' Big Chance

It is no secret that Rivers and his manager, Jack Walker, are taking the bout at a remunerative sacrifice just for the chance that it opens to them. Fitzgerald, a main eventer at the Olympic and at Hollywood will get the heavy end of the purse which Foust admits is the largest by several hundred dollars that he ever guaranteed for a single match.

Fitzgerald has been on the Pacific Coast for several months. He is not an obscure performer with a vague record that needs ballyhoo. Freddie knocked out Joe Schlocker in four rounds a week ago last Friday night in a main event at Hollywood. Two weeks before he headlined a show in San Francisco and scored a smashing knockout victory in an early round. He is tentatively scheduled to headline the Olympic's card Dec. 10.

Fourth Best Welter

One of the largest boxing papers in the country rates Fitzgerald as the fourth best welterweight in the game. Only Jackie Fields, "Black Jack" Thompson, whom Northern Matchmakers are trying to get for Freddie, and Jimmy McLarnin are classed above the good-looking Cleveland knockout artist who shows in Santa Ana next week.

Rivers has earned a chance at high class competition through months of hard effort. Once the most unpopular battler showing at the county club, the Indian overcame this prejudice with a series of sterling performances that com-

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

Fight! Courage! Name it what you will.

In my own vulgar way I prefer to call it—"GUTS," a short, ugly word that suits the purpose to better advantage.

I think it took "guts" for Santa Ana's Dons to come from nowhere, make three touchdowns and beat Fullerton for the Southern California Junior College conference championship at Poly field yesterday.

What a ball team!

Thirteen points point. Disorganized, decisively outplayed. Championship hopes blasted—and they came from behind and won.

They score. Now only six points behind. A touchdown will tie it—and they made a touchdown, driving 80 yards.

Three minutes to play. A desperate running attack, sweeping all before it—every man doing his part.

Down to the three-yard line. Seconds to play. They can't make it. They haven't time. There's the gun now! But the ball was passed first. It's still in play. It's a pass—a pass—a PASS! Over the line it goes. He caught it. He MADE it. IT'S A TOUCHDOWN!!!

What a ball team!

My chapeau is off to it.

I grovel before a gang that can come from behind like that.

I know I'm being small-townish. I'm a sophomore again.

But you'll have to excuse me tonight, boys. I'm still down there at Poly field.

THE PITY OF IT

We should not feel badly about anything today. Certainly we have no reason to be unhappy.

But I am sorry.

I am sorry that more people didn't see that game yesterday.

Yes, I realize the park was packed to capacity, that it was the largest crowd of the season.

But if EVERYBODY had been there to see that hair-raising, dime novel finish what a boon it would have been for junior college athletics.

It takes a champion to attract crowds. This championship team of the Dons will pack 'em in from now on. Santa Ana college will attract skilled prep school athletes from all over the county.

That game meant everything yesterday. It will bring a new era in junior college sports. We shall have bigger and better football from now on. Junior college football is just a step removed from the big time.

More power to the Dons!

HERE'S PLAY-BY-PLAY STORY OF DON-FULLERTON STRUGGLE

First Quarter

Phillippi kicked off to Garlock on the goal line, who returned to the Santa Ana 22-yard line. Garlock made a yard through tackle. Sweetnam failed on a double reverse and lost 10 yards. Garlock punted 30 yards to Dauser on the Santa Ana 32-yard line.

DONS COME FROM BEHIND, SCORE AS PISTOL POPS TO DEFEAT FULLERTON, 19-13

Cutting through the deafening din of 5000 frenzied fans, the report of a pistol unofficially ended in a 13 to 13 tie the greatest game of football ever played here yesterday. But the ball had been passed before the gun was discharged and in that next sweet second, Santa Ana junior college completed a short forward pass over the goal-line, defeating Fullerton, 19 to 13, and won for the first time in history a Southern California Junior College conference championship.

To do this, Coach Bill Cook's great Don machine put on a dime novel finish that made Frank Merriwell and his touchdown-manufacturing chums shape up in comparison like grammar school rotation players.

With the score tied, the ball on the four-yard line and only seconds to play, the Dons lined up quickly and snapped the ball just as the timers fired the pistol.

As a play is never dead until the ball is downed, the Santa Anans made a final effort to score. Wayne ("Galloping") Garlock, quarter, received the sphere, faded several yards to his right, stopped abruptly and then shot a snappy pass to little Jack Sweetnam, halfback, who pressed the precious pigskin to his chest just as he stumbled over the last white line for the winning touchdown.

This climaxed two inspired drives down the field in the last nine minutes of play, one of 80 yards for the tying touchdown and one of 71 yards for the winning score.

It took valiant measures to clear the field long enough to allow Santa Ana to try for a conversion. Nobody wanted the extra point anyway and cared little when Tim Wallace's kick was blocked. The biggest crowd in junior college history, that even surpassed that of a week ago for the San Diego high school tussle, swarmed over the field and bore the champion Dons around on its shoulders.

It was a tough game for Fullerton to lose by that "movie" finish as the squads were almost evenly matched. Two big, heavy and experienced lines had a great day with honors about fifty-fifty. The Yellowjackets were slightly superior in the backfield until the Cookmen unleashed those determined drives in the last period which found the Swarm powerless and the local ball packers plowing at will all over the field. The statistics gave Santa Ana 244 yards compared to 148 and 17 first downs to 4 for Fullerton.

By defeating Fullerton, Santa Ana annexed its conference title uncontested for Pasadena, was unexpectedly upset by Long Beach, 9 to 7 and pushed out of the race. Even if Pasadena had triumphed, the Dons would have received the pennant by virtue of a conference win over the Pirates earlier in the season. Had the local game ended in a tie Fullerton would have finished in a deadlock with the Cookmen for high honors.

Dons Behind at Half

The Dons, losing several bad "breaks" were outfought in the first half and the Hornets were leading 13 to 0 at the end of this period.

Fullerton crashed the scoreboard early in the first quarter after the Dons fumbled and had to kick from near their goal line. Garlock's boot was grounded on the 32-yard stripe. Philippi drove over guard for one yard and then Dauser crashed around end for two more. Philippi caught the local defense napping and rifled a pass to Dauser which was good for 16 yards and put the oval on the 13-yard line. Philippi added two yards on a line plunge; Dauser made two more at tackle and then shot a bullet pass to McCormick, an end, over the goal for a touchdown. Philippi missed the conversion.

Well along in the second division, Fullerton rang up another sale and chalked seven more digits. Philippi punted to Keeler on the Santa Ana 11-yard line. On third down with only two yards to go, Manderscheid attempted to punt but the Swarm broke through, blocked it and recovered the ball on the eight-yard line.

Fullerton Scores Again

It didn't take long for Fullerton to follow up its advantage. Fullback Hezmalhalch hit tackle for five yards. Philippi made another at guard and then scored over center. Philippi's kick for the extra [illegible] by a slight margin and gave Fullerton a 13 to 6 lead.

Santa Ana's first touchdown came after a wild series of fumbles, intercepted passes and thrills in the third quarter. Dutton intercepted a pass on the Santa Ana 37-yard line but Philippi came right back and intercepted a Don pass on the Santa Ana 48-yard line. On the next play, he fumbled the ball and Warmer recovered for Santa Ana.

Garlock punted out of bounds on the two-yard line but Fullerton came right back with a boot to the Fullerton 33-yard line. Garlock tossed a pass to Warmer, who just got it on his fingertips and raced 12 yards, only to be forced out of bounds on the one-yard line. His catch of the 20-yard pass was marvelous. Dutton slammed hard at center for one-half yard and then crashed over the line for a score. Wallace was rushed into the game to kick goal and leave the count 13 to 7.

Two Epic Marches

Eleven of Santa Ana's 17 first downs were pushed over in the last stanza during the two epic marches to touchdowns that won the old ball game. Fullerton threatened to score after Woods intercepted a local pass and ran from the 40-yard line down to the 12-yard line but Hezmalhalch was held twice for no gain and then Garlock smothered Philippi's pass over the goal, the Spaniards taking possession on the 20-yard line.

Fifteen plays later, the score was tied and after a few more plays, the Cookmen again got the ball, this time on the 29-yard line and again used exactly 15 plays to score the deciding touchdown.

The first of these two markers was chiefly the result of hard drives by Garlock. He piled up 45 yards from scrimmage in nine plays and threw a nice pass to Sweetnam who made a fine catch. Jack Dutton chimed in with several timely gains and Fullerton was steadily pushed back farther and farther. [illegible] Dutton tied the score but Wallace failed to kick goal.

The second drive to a score had the crowd on its feet again. Garlock again totaled 45 yards, featured by a 20-yard jaunt to the 14-yard line. Dutton also helped considerably and Sweetnam again took a swift pass from Garlock besides the short toss over the goal after the gun had boomed ending the game.

Line Play Features Game

Both lines played ball that would have done credit to many four-year colleges. Experience was the big thing, as well as weight and individual skill. Both captains, Herald Hylton of Santa Ana and Frank Del Giorgio of Fullerton, were particularly brilliant.

Another great fight was between Al Kluthe, lanky Don center and Chesley, Fullerton pivot man. Kluthe, backing up the line, was a defensive demon.

All three Santa Ana ends, Adams, Warmer and Dunham, put up a great exhibition of football. Warmer turned in two or three hair-raising catches of passes that materially helped the Santa Anans get into scoring range. Adams smeared up all kinds of Fullerton plays.

Griswold Starts

Sammy Griswold started at guard for the first time in many games and played stellar ball throughout. Crawford, Warner and Martin, the other three guardsmen, performed creditably and added a great deal to the effectiveness in making "wagon wide" holes for theb acks. Tim Wallace and Ernie Stump at tackle had a great day also.

Garlock and Dutton did most of the offensive damage but worlds of credit goes to little Sweetnam who pulled down several passes in a spectacular fashion to give the Dons sorely needed yards. It was Sweetnam who caught the pass that defeated Glendale last week and he turned in the same trick Saturday to snag Garlock's heave and win the game.

John Keeler did some nice rambling around the ends and also punted and passed well. Both Dutton and "Red" Manderscheid looked good at fullback but the Fullerton line was too strong to allow Manderscheid to get away on his devastating runs.

DRAMA MARKS THANKSGIVING TILTS IN U. S.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Dramatic events marked the close of the football season except for a few scattered games tomorrow and next month.

Pittsburgh, the East's most powerful eleven, had to take a final half rally to overcome Penn State's 7 to 6 lead and beat the Nittany Lions, 20 to 7.

"Toby" Uansa, Pitt's great halfback, held the candle for "Pug" Parkinson, Pitt's 200-pound fullback, who scored every one of his team's 20 points.

Down South, Tennessee had to fling a 40-yard pass in the twilight to tie Kentucky, 6 to 6, and stave off its first defeat in three years. Kentucky gained 226 yards to Tennessee's 76.

Tulane completed its season undefeated by scoring a 21 to 0 victory over Louisiana State and virtually clinched the Southern title.

Captain Thad Bock of Davidson college made a 102-yard run against Duke, but failed to score a touchdown. He ran from eight yards behind his own goal line to Duke's 6 yard line. Davidson won, 13 to 12.

Dick Gentle, Penn's brilliant halfback and ran 101 yards for a touchdown against Cornell. The run and kick after touchdown wiped out Cornell's 7 to 0 lead and sent Penn on to win 17 to 7.

Colgate established itself as one of the east's best teams by overwhelming Brown 32 to 0, the game ending in a blinding snowstorm.

Follett, New York university's star halfback, broke his leg in the first few plays of the game and Carnegie Tech beat the Violets, 20 to 0.

In the far west, St. Mary's crushed the University of Oregon, 31 to 6, but the Gaels had their goal line crossed for the first time this season. U. C. L. A. beat Montana, 14 to 0.

Nebraska, Big Six champion, closed its season with a 31-12 victory over Iowa State. Missouri clinched second place in the Big Six by beating Oklahoma, 13 to 0.

An 85-yard run by John Sisk for a touchdown featured Marqquette's 25 to 6 victory over the Kansas Aggies in an intersectional game.

Georgia's erratic football eleven toppled Alabama, 12 to 0. North Carolina crushed Virginia, 41-7. Vanderbilt downed Sewanee, 26 to 6. Florida beat Washington and Lee 25 to 7, and V. M. I. won from V. P. I. 14 to 0, in other important Southern games.

The Texas Aggies sprang a big surprise by defeating the U. of Texas, 13 to 0, in the Southwest's outstanding game.

In the Rocky Mountain region, U. of Utah, unbeaten and champion of that section, trimmed the Utah Aggies, 26 to 7. Denver university beat the Colorado Aggies, 19 to 6.

FARNSWORTH WINS CLASS A TOURNEY

F. E. (Ed) Farnsworth and G. A. ("Tex") Oliver won Class A and Class B medal play sweepstakes at the Santa Ana Country club yesterday.

Farnsworth shot 79-6-69 in Class A. Three members tied for second with net 74's. R. O. Winkler and E. T. Mateer had 86-12-74 and B. V. Curry 82-8-74.

Oliver scored an 84-18-66. M. B. Wellington, 94-22-72, and C. P. Patton, 90-18-72, tied for second.

THREE SKEET CLUB MEN WIN GOBBLERS

Vernon Barnhill, Arnold Peek and Frank Sawyer won turkeys at the Santa Ana Skeet club's Thanksgiving Day handicap shoot.

Gross scores follow: Rogers, 24; Montgomery, 24; Steward, 23; Fickas, 22; Berry, 21; V. Barnhill, 21; Sawyer, 20; A. Police, Students Mix At Coliseum

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—Sergeant Robert M. Turner, veteran member of the police force, suffered a broken left ankle yesterday when he attempted to halt a rush of University of California at Los Angeles students who wanted the goal posts at the Coliseum after the Bruins defeated Montana university by a 14 to 0 score.

Turner and five or six other policemen won the battle to protect the uprights. Several policemen and a few students nursed bruises after the fray.

NOTRE DAME, ARMY BATTLE TOMORROW

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Without their coach, Knute K. Rockne, who is in South Bend nursing an infected leg, the Notre Dame football squad arrived here today for the annual game against Army at Yankee stadium tomorrow.

The team was accompanied by Tim Moynihan, crack center whose leg was broken in the Northwestern game and the only member of the squad not reported in Chicago to play.

The Army team left West Point early today for New York after holding the final workout yesterday at home.

GRIFFITH, PAOLINO RING FOES TONIGHT

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Gerald Ambrose Griffith will attempt to demonstrate tonight that he merits consideration as a leading contender for the "big money" boxing championship which Gene Tunney—after he had made a million dollars out of it—so nonchalantly cast aside.

Gerald or "Tuffy," as you wish—or dare—will meet Paolino Uzcudun, the battling Basque, by far the best heavyweight opponent who has come this way; and, for the first time in several fights, "Tuffy" will be the underdog when the starting bell rings.

Paolino was a 7-5 favorite today, with the betting not overly heavy.

J. C. Fund Shortage Will Not Halt District Move Here

KERSEY SEES HUGE DEFICIT FOR NEXT YEAR

A recent declaration by Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction, that a shortage in state funds for aiding junior colleges may hamper opening of new junior colleges will have no effect on the movement here to create a junior high school district embracing the south half of new junior colleges, will have W. C. Jerome, president of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and one of the large group of men deeply interested in formation of the new district.

In a statement revealing that nearly $500,000 more than now is available will be needed for the school year 1930-31, the superintendent says that the situation is one that apparently cannot be remedied this year. He estimates that a minimum of $982,000 will be needed to operate junior colleges of the state next year and he points out that this will leave a deficit of $497,000 unless funds can be made available from sources other than those now obtaining.

"The 1929 legislature set $30 a pupil as the maximum amount to be provided from the general fund for junior colleges," Kersey says in his statement. "The federal government aids in junior college education with an apportionment based on receipts from federal oil land leases. Many of these leases have been cancelled, cutting down the apportionment. Last year the state received $240,838. Next year we shall be fortunate to get $200,000."

At the same time the state superintendent announced that he advocates that the state give a minimum of $2000 yearly for each district junior college and $100 for each unit of average daily attendance.

Pointing out that attendance in junior colleges has increased 58 per cent in the last seven years, Kersey says he does not anticipate as large an increase next year as that experienced during the last two years. He expresses the opinion, however, that the seven-year average of 58 per cent will occur.

"With half again as many pupils and considerably less revenue, the situation is acute," Kersey said. "Although no junior colleges will have to close for lack of funds, the expense warrants must be registered and six per cent interest paid on them, according to law."

Jerome said that if the state should increase its allowance per pupil, creation of union junior college districts would be made easier, because it would reduce slightly the local tax for maintenance. He pointed out that until the additional assistance is given local tax rates would have to be maintained to make up the difference.

$81 Stolen From Capistrano Home

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 29.—Diego Morales, San Juan Capistrano laborer, left his home near San Juan Capistrano yesterday morning about 10 o'clock. When he returned later i nthe day he found $81 in cash which he had hidden in the house stolen. Thieves had entered by prying open the front screen door. Morales called local officers who are investigating the daylight robbery.

SANTA GIVES ASSISTANT BIT OF ADVICE

REGISTER EXPEDITION STARTS FOR HOME AFTER WONDERFUL EXPERIENCE IN SANTA'S LAND

By CAPT. F. E. KLEINSCHMIDT
Special Correspondent of The Register and Head of Expedition to the Home of Santa Claus
By Wireless

In yesterday's dispatch I told you how Santa had promised to take us to call on a very dear friend of his, and Mrs. K.'s curiosity was aroused of course. Who could it be? But Santa only smiled and said, "The Greatest Artist in the World." Santa is full of surprises to kiddies on Christmas morning and it is part of his nature to give happy surprises so he is going to give us one too.

"Come on and get up," Santa's great voice came booming through the ice palace. Mrs. K. looked into a sheet of ice to see if her Parka hood was on straight and took special pains in dressing and fixing herself up to meet this mysterious person. She could contain herself no longer. "Santa, come tell me," she coaxed, "who is this great artist. It has kept me awake half the night trying to imagine who it is." "Well, now," said the good Saint, in apology, "I did not mean to keep you awake. Can't you guess? One thing I must tell you, wrap up good and put on your heavy furs so the Artist won't get a chance to paint his name on your faces."

"Oh, it's Jack Frost," we exclaimed.

It was bright and early when Santa shouted, "Get into your

HEALTH EXPERT TO GIVE SERIES OF TALKS HERE

Dr. Edward McCollum, nationally known authority on physical and mental hygiene, is bringing to Santa Ana recently discovered facts concerning the development of physical and mental health. This noted authority, who is at the present time making a tour of most of the progressive cities of the United States, has some unusual information for his hearers here beginning next Wednesday.

Among other things, McCollum is going to disclose the results of certain scientific experiments to control weight and health through balanced and well-combined foods. He also is going to explain the reasons why the 18-day diet and other similar fads fail to work their miracles in the majority of cases. "We must not fast but feast our way to normal health," McCollum avers, and it is certain that this information will be welcome to many of Phoenix's heavyweights.

According to this young scientist, glandular disturbances, or a partial upset in the action of the internal secreting glands, is responsible for much illness, as well as overweight and underweight conditions. Information which has come to light only in the last 12 months now brings these conditions well within the range of easy control.

The titles of the six lectures which Dr. McCollum will give are "Help Yourself to a Powerful Personality;" "Perfect Health Without Drugs;" "How to Eat, When to Eat and What to Eat;" "Turning Your Ability Into Cash;" "Control of the Body Through Mind Power;" "Analyzing the Mind, and the Story Your Face Tells." The lectures will be held each night beginning at 8 o'clock, in the Ebell club. The lectures will be free and the public is cordially invited.

LONGFELLOWS' FASHION SHOW PROVES BIG HIT

Applause that almost made the auditorium walls shake greeted the presentation of the male fashion show put on by the Santa Ana Junior College Society of Longfellows at the regular college assembly this week.

Fifteen of the members, all over six feet, paraded on the stage attired in various feminine modes and fashions, much to the delight of the collegians in the audience. As over half the mannequins were members of the football team, the appearance was anything but feminine. The scene for the fashion show was a garden party in honor of a young society girl, who was portrayed by Sam Griswold, a blonde.

The hostess, Ed Adams, was helped by Joe Warner in preparing the party and the entire group of women engaged in some spirited chatty discussions of other members of the faculty and student body. A novelty act, done by George Paddock in a grass "hula" skirt, merited thunderous applause, while another musical number by Paddock and Warner, was quite amusing. Bob Squires delivered an impassioned oration in keeping with the occasion, while the two babies of the show, Charlie Greenleaf and John "Sky" Dunlap, clad in nightshirts and attended by a

Fullerton, Santa Ana J. C. Students Enjoy Dance After Game

Over 100 Fullerton junior collegians were the guests last night of the local Dons and Donas at a Thanksgiving dance which followed the Fullerton-Santa Ana junior college football game, and was held in Andrews' gymnasium. Thanksgiving decorations, with the colors of the two colleges, as well as an appropriate Thanksgiving motif were developed by a committee which included Miss Florence Brownridge, Miss Ada Marie Hendrickson and others.

Many special dance and orchestral numbers were furnished by the orchestra, and climaxing the affair, a huge airplane that was launched from the balcony of the floor, released a myriad of vari-colored "noise" horns, each with its parachute attached, which floated down among the dancing couples. Cleverly made pom-poms in blue and gold of the visiting students, and Santa Ana black and scarlet were also given as favors for the affair, which was a very successful one.

The entire dance was in charge of Miss Clara Kate Owens, college commissioner of social activities. Miss Owens was assisted by Miss Brownridge and Miss Hendrickson, Wylie Carlyle, Robert Chapman, Louis Romoff, Stewart McPherson, Eric Twist, Lester McDonald, Warren Schutz and numerous other college students.

The next dance, which will be a Christmas affair, will be held late in December, it was learned from Miss Owens.

Norwood-Weston Nuptials Are Solemnized in Long Beach

A recent lovely wedding which will be of interest to Santa Anans was that of Mrs. Golden S. Norwood and Seldon Weber Weston, which took place Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, 6626 Curtis avenue, Long Beach. The Rev. W. B. Cole, pastor of the First Methodist church of Orange read the impressive service.

The bride wore a becoming gown of transparent velvet and carried a beautiful bouquet of yellow rosebuds. She was unattended.

The ceremony took place in the living room of the Smith home underneath an arch of ferns and yellow chrysanthemums. Just preceding the ceremony Miss Henrietta Armendarez of Santa Ana sang a lovely old Spanish love song, "Morir Por tu Amor."

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served, table appointments being in yellow and white. The bride and groom left last evening for a brief honeymoon at Lake Arrowhead and on their return they will establish their home at 334 East Pine street, Santa Ana.

Mrs. Weston is well known in educational and social circles of the county and is head of the Americanization department here. She was formerly at the head of the religious educational department of the First Methodist church of Orange.

Mr. Weston is connected with the firm of Gilbert-Weston of this city.

Guests at the wedding included Homer Weston and Miss Theresa Yester of Los Angeles; Mrs. William Cross of Burbank; Miss Gladys R. Smith and Miss Lois Chapman of Inglewood; Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Weston of Santa Ana; Mrs. George Riley and Miss Henrietta Armendarez of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Feckling, Mrs. W. H. Hinshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Myers, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, of Long Beach, and the Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Cole, Miss Frances Heil and Mrs. Nelle D. Klein of Orange.

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weston entertained with a dinner in honor of the bride and groom at their home, 1329 Orange avenue. Mrs. Weston used yellow and white in her appointments, centering the attractive table with yellow chrysanthemums. Guests were the son of the groom, Homer Weston, of Los Angeles; Miss Theresa Yester of Los Angeles, and Mrs. William Cross of Burbank.

Eugene Tragos Arrive From New York for Thanksgiving

A delightful surprise was in store for members of the Trago family who gathered at the E. B. Trago home, 216 Cypress avenue yesterday afternoon for Thanksgiving dinner for included on the guest list were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Trago of New York who had just arrived in Los Angeles on the preceding evening.

Their coming was kept a secret from Mr. and Mrs. Trago's guests until the dinner hour when they stepped from their hiding place to take their places at the table.

Eugene Trago who is Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Trago's son, has just been transferred from New York to Los Angeles where he is to be assistant manager of the General Motors company in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Trago had decked her dinner table with colorful autumn leaves and fruits which glowed in the light cast by tall scarlet candles at either end of the table.

Those enjoying the affair with the hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Trago and Dr. Jack Congdon of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wallace of Whittier, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Congdon of San Juan Capistrano, Mrs. John Spencer and son and daughter, John Vernon and Virginia, of Eagle Rock, and Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Nickey and Miss Mildred Congdon of this city.

Prettily Appointed Dinner Is Presented

Lovely in every detail were the appointments used Wednesday evening at a pretty dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lazenby at their attractive home, 1004 Kilson drive. The large table was centered with a huge pumpkin filled with purple grapes, golden persimmons, shining avocados and other autumn fruits and at either end were tall tapers. The Thanksgiving motif was expressed in miniature turkey nut cups and place cards.

Following the dinner, the group enjoyed a number of merry games.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lazenby were Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sparks and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garner.

Chrysanthemums Form Motif for Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rutledge were hosts yesterday to relatives at Thanksgiving dinner held at their home. The large table was centered with lovely chrysanthemums in tones of bronze and yellow which formed the color motif for other appointments.

Those in the group included Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Rutledge, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Humphrey, Murepark; Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Humphrey, Walnut Park; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Browning and their children, Dora Mae and Charles Malcom, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rutledge, Miss Dee Rutledge and Miss Clara Rutledge of this city.

An interesting feature of the affair was that guests were called to dinner by a bell which had been used by the hostess' mother 52 years ago.

Elwood Bear Presents Pupils in Violin Recital

A violin recital by several pupils of Elwood Bear, associate director of Santa Ana Conservatory of Music, was held in the reception rooms of the Conservatory, 806 North Main street, last night.

This recital was unique in that it marked the first time in Orange county that violins from eighth to full size, were heard at one concert.

Marillyn Jane Bear, five years of age opened the program on a tiny eighth size instrument. Barbara Robinson of El Modena and Sylvia White each played solos on quarter size violins. Lloyd and Leo Robbins of Orange played on half and three-quarter sizes respectively. All other students played full size instruments.

Audry Granis played the Auer arrangement of Drigo's "Valse Bluett" showing remarkably well developed tone. Elmore Miller of Huntington Beach played the Kreutzer "Etude, Number 30" in brilliant style. Zelma Smith was heard with Mr. Bear in his arrangement of Laurences' "Romance in A" for two violins in which double stops for each instrument were played throughout.

Ralph Greer of Fullerton followed with the brilliantly played "Spanish Dance" by Raefield, after which Emmalena Richards rendered the Hartman arrangement of Friml's "Moon Dawn" with its nuances well defined in most artistic manner. Simon Plas of Costa Mesa played the second movement of the Tschaikowsky "Concerto" showing most pleasing tone qualities. Marion Nau appeared in the difficult "Turkish March" by Beethoven-Auer with thirds, tenths, chords and double harmonics played in creditable manner.

Mr. Bear gave a short talk on violin teaching stressing the importance of the best possible instruction for the first two years of study, the most important period of all for violinists.

The program was concluded with the well known "Nocturne" by Mendelssohn played by the Elwood Bear violin quartet, composed of Georgie Belle Walton, Emalena Richards, Marion Nau and Mr. Bear.

The accompanists who assisted throughout the recital were the Misses Molly Mosher, Beatrice Granis, Mary Nau, Mrs. Charles Robinson, Mrs. George Greer and Mr. Bear.

Reception to Be Held In New Y. W. Rooms

Members of the Y.W.C.A. and their friends have been invited to inspect the new Y.W. rooms at 105 East Fifth street at a reception to be given Thursday from 11:30 o'clock until 5:30 o'clock and in the evening from 7:30 until 9:30 o'clock.

The rooms are to be dedicated Sunday afternoon, December 8, at 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. C. F. Smith, president of the organization, and Miss Nancy Elder, general secretary, have made arrangements for the reception and they have asked various members to preside as hostesses at different hours. Members of the Wrycende Maegdenu club will be in charge of the evening affair when a musical program will be given.

Hillman-Gunlach Wedding News Is Announced by Bride's Parents

Although many Santa Ana friends of Don Edward Hillman of Los Angeles, formerly of this city, have suspected that he has been married for the past month none was sure of it until this week when the wedding was announced by Mr. and Mrs. M. Gunlach of Bakersfield, parents of Mr. Hillman's lovely young bride.

Mr. Hillman and his wife, the former Miss Martha Gunlach, motored to Phoenix, Ariz., October 5 and were married there. Following the wedding they enjoyed a honeymoon in Arizona and San Francisco before returning to Los Angeles where Mrs. Hillman resumed her studies at the Chouinard Art school.

They are now at home at 2118 Leeward avenue, Los Angeles.

Mr. Hillman is the son of Mrs. Mary Hillman of 828 North Birch street and is a graduate of the Santa Ana high school. He also attended the junior college before leaving for an extended trip abroad. At present he is manager of the American Express Travel bureau in Los Angeles.

His wife graduated from the Bakersfield high school and for some time has been studying at the Chouinard Art school in Los Angeles, but will complete her course December 1. She has visited in this city a number of times.

Are Eyebrows Returning?

Sometimes I Think They Are BUT Sometimes I Think They Aren't

By VELVA G. DARLING

"The return of the eyebrow is the latest evidence of the modern woman's desire to be more feminine," comes word from London. "To whatever fashionable rendezvous one goes one notices that eyebrows are emerging from their post-war thinness and are now being allowed to achieve the natural beauty that is theirs." Plucked eyebrows, beauty experts point out, give women a depressing uniformity of expression. Nature possesses an innate balance in her workings which it is dangerous for any individual to tamper with. If you were given large eyebrows in the beginning it was probably for a very good reason—so if you want to be different from other women let your eyebrows grow as they will. Nature knows best! Mustn't pluck!

But on the other side of the question, if modern femininity has actually arrived at the point where a woman must hang on to her individuality by her eyebrows she is getting pretty close to the brink of insipidity. Any woman who would permit wide bettling brows to grow above her eyes, making her look as if she had just come in from a hard winter, must be frightfully hard up for individuality. Why shouldn't she show her individuality by permitting her finger nails to grow without cutting them, or her neck to go unwashed nature doesn't provide soap and water! Chicago provides the soap and her home town the water—not Nature! Far better the vacant stare of the woman whose eyebrows have been plucked to the vanishing point than the heavy-browed, super-serious masculine-looking woman who has let her eyebrows grow wild just because London says so.

Sometimes I think no matter what the individualist at the Ritz and Monte Carlo and the Embassy Club are wearing in the way of eyebrows, dressed or undressed, the American girl will never risk her peace of mind and sanity by having to look in her mirror at eyebrows growing whither they will like a lawn gone to seed. But on the other hand, stranger things than wild eyebrows have been started by women who wanted to be different. And when you come to think about it it is really quite an achievement to grow a crop of eyebrows without demanding farmers relief, as all of other growers in the country are doing. I don't know—maybe eyebrows will come back.

The WOMAN'S DAY

Working girls are more concerned with how they shall be clothed than how they shall be fed, according to the Association to Promote Proper Housing for Girls, which has been investigating the living conditions of the working girl in New York city.

"The working girl," their report states, "economizes on food in order to have more attractive raiment. This instinct is sound, as it is in itself a means of provision for the future—a means of attracting a husband. But it is a wonder how some working girls, paid the small salaries they are, manage to make themselves as attractive as they do."

NECESSITIES

Frances Perkins, head of the association, makes this point which is too often overlooked in considering the worker's prbolem:

"Every human being should have the wherewithal to maintain life, and in addition to that, something to make life worth maintaining.

"For mere subsistence, a girl needs food, clothing and a roof. She should have of these sufficient quantity to insure, first of all, health, and after that, security—that is, some assurance that the means of subsistence will not be withdrawn, and some provision against old age or misfortune, such as sickness or accident insurance or an endowment policy.

"All these things are outside the requirements for making life worth living. Included in the latter are such natural youthful recreations as dancing and social contacts generally. Such entertainments as music and the theater. Such adornments as beads and silk stockings—such luxury as leisure to read and invite her soul (scarcely obtainable when one works eight hours and must sew, mend, wash, iron, clean one's room and often do a little cooking after working hours).

"She should be permitted, now and then, the abandoned pleasure of generosity—that is to indulge her natural right of making a gift to somebody."

NEED FOR GENEROSITY

That last consideration seems to me the most vital of all—the abandoned pleasure of generosity.

Only the person budgeted to the hilt, who keeps away the wolf only a day at a time, and who has no Peter to rob to pay Paul, realizes how soul-shriveling it is not to be able to go into the florist's shop and order a basket of flowers for a sick friend, or how many generous impulses have to be sacrificed to the bleak necessity of keeping a roof over one's head—and not such a swell roof, at that.

There is indeed something defective in our civilization, something wrong with the economic machine, and something to view with alarm, when the worker, out of the effort she puts forth, and the amount she produces, cannot buy at least enough to feed and house herself—with a slight margin for generosity, to say nothing of an occasional extravagance.

How would you like to lose 15 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health?

How would you like to lose a load of unhealthy fat that you don't need and don't want and at the same time feel better than you have for years?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent abdomen and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration?

How would you like to get your weight down to normal and at the same time develop that urge for activity that makes work a pleasure and also gain in ambition and keenness of mind?

Get on the scales to-day and see how much you weigh—then get an 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last you for 4 weeks. Take one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

Now you can laugh at the people who pay hundreds of dollars to lose a few pounds of fat—now you will know the pleasant day to lose unsightly fat and you'll also know that the 6 vitalizing salts of Kruschen (Salts that your blood, nerves and glands must have to function properly)— have presented you with glorious health.

After that you'll want to walk around and say to your friends.—"One 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts is worth one hundred dollars of any fat person's money."

Leading druggists America over sell Kruschen Salts—you can always get it at Mateer's Drug Store. —Adv.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

I have a letter from a reader, asking a question on diet which I will answer here, because it fits so many women who are endeavoring to take off excessive weight. This lady knows food values and diets consistently, yet she is unable to lose the last five pounds which kept her from reaching her normal weight.

There are various things which must be considered: age for one. We become solid fleshed after thirty and getting rid of solid tissue is next to impossible. If we are normally healthy, a fantastic idea of my own is, that the body stubbornly and sensibly hangs onto this margin as a safeguard against loss of energy. In this particular case evidence points to constipation as the probable cause of inability to lose this weight. Let me quote Dr. Clarence W. Lieb as authority on the retention of over-weight because of constipation, or auto-intoxication, as he expresses it.

"Find a fat man and nine times out of ten you have found an 'auto-intoxicated' person. The toxins elaborated in the colon are absorbed into the system and depress glandular function, which, in turn, prevents proper tissues oxidation, with the resulting deposit of unhealthy fat. The bodily lethargy thus produced, resulting in lessened exercise and intestinal stasis (constipation), also brings on corpulency."

Translating Dr. Lieb into kitchen English, let me say that anyone who is a victim of constipation carries around in his body the most efficient little alcoholic still in existence; and don't forget, that alcohol in any form has a high calorie value, adding its unnecessary quota to the adequate foods already eaten!

Oyster Omelette

1-2 cup thin cream
1-4 cup milk
6 eggs
1-2 teaspoon each, salt and white pepper
12 large oysters, chopped
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 tablespoon minced parsley

This omelette is appropriate for the main dish for luncheon. Sunday supper, or to replace meat at dinner.

Any omelette is the better for having the egg whites beaten fluffy and the cooking done partly on top of the stove and partly in a hot oven, s-o-o, light the oven and get two heavy skillets ready.

Wash and drain the oysters, cut them in small pieces and put in a sieve to drain off excess juice, which we will use in the omelette. Put the yolks in one bowl; the whites in another. To the yolks add the cream and milk, salt, pepper and oyster juice; beat well.

Beat the whites till fluffy, but not dry, as for meringue. Combine and mix by cutting and folding the whites. Have melted butter in both sizzling hot skillets, pour equal amounts of egg into each and brown over a hot fire.

While this is going on quickly sprinkle the chopped oysters over the two omelettes, then slip them into the hot oven for two or three minutes until they puff up and brown slightly. Fold over on a hot platter, garnish with niced parsley and serve IMMEDIATELY.

There are 1285 calories, mostly proteins, in this recipe. The portions are six, but rather modest ones. This omelette has fine food value and one of our old vitamin friends in the oysters.

Single prescription made a family doctor famous

SELDOM has any single act been of greater benefit to mankind than the one which Dr. Caldwell performed back in 1885 when he wrote the prescription which has carried his fame to the four corners of the earth.

Over and over, Dr. Caldwell wrote this prescription as he found men, women, and children suffering from those common symptoms of constipation, such as coated tongue, bad breath, headaches, gas, nausea, biliousness, poor appetite, or lack of energy, etc. And it invariably relieved these symptoms so much more pleasantly, so much quicker than other things, that his patients simply had to tell other people about it.

The demand for this prescription grew so fast that by 1888 Dr. Caldwell was forced to have it put up ready for use and supply drug stores with it. Today you can get the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, at all drug stores.

When you or your children suffer from any of the symptoms of constipation, it will pay you to remember this safe, pleasant-tasting, effective laxative; made only from herbs and other pure ingredients; a real corrective for constipation. A doctor's 47-year experience behind this formula!

FARRELL PLAYS IN WEST COAST DRAMA

"The River," latest of Charles Farrell's successes, together with "The Long Trail," starring Hoot Gibson, closes a two-day run in the Fox-West Coast theater today.

Usually seen here with Janet Gaynor, Farrell has for his leading lady in "The River" Mary Duncan, who was seen here recently in the "Four Devils." She has an uncanny gift of projecting her brilliant personality from the screen.

The unusual situation of an innocent girl and a sophisticated man falling in love is reversed in "The River." A bashful boy of the backwoods is seen in his first romance with a worldly wise woman. The transformation of the young woman through the influence of her sweetheart, aided by the analogy between the river of water and the stream of love which washes all things clean, carries the theme to a height rarely attained in motion pictures. The picture is daring; it is audacious, but it is never cheap. Frank Borzage handles the story well and with the utmost taste.

A Metrotone newsreel also is on the program.

NEW COLLEGE FILM OPENS IN BROADWAY

Snappy dialogue, tuneful melodies, dancing and all the thrills of a championship football game make "So This Is College," which opens in the Fox-Broadway theater today, one of the best bets for good movie entertainment. The picture will run three days.

The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer college comedy was filmed on the campus of the University of California, the first college in the country to be used as a locale for a moving picture.

Hundreds of students work in the picture as extras, giving a genuine atmosphere to the scenes showing the football game and the big midnight bonfire rally.

The plot centers about the bitter rivalry between the University of Southern California and Stanford. The swiftly moving action reaches a climax at the big game of the season.

There is spirit and fun and good humor running all through "So This Is College" that will make the audience sit back in its seat and grin at the amusing antics of the coeds and college cutups.

Robert Montgomery and Elliott Nugent share the male leads and Sally Starr has the feminine lead. Cliff Edwards (Ukulele Ike) plays the comedy role.

Aside from the feature, a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer skit, all talking, and a Fox Movietone newsreel are on the program.

The Constitution And The Law

Outline on subject of Oratorical Contest, and Excerpts from a Sermon by Harry Emerson Fosdick for High School Oratorical Contestants and Others.

The outline and material printed below comprise the ninth publication of material intended for the use of the high school students in helping them to prepare their orations for the forthcoming oratorical contests on the subject, "The Citizens' Obligation of the Eighteenth Amendment," which culminate in the finals in Santa Ana on Feb. 28.

Each high school has been furnished some material for the use of its students. There are some books and pamphlets in the office of The Register which can be used by the students at any time they desire to come in. An hour will be set apart for help in the way of counsel by Register representatives for any high school students who desire additional information.

The next installment of this material will be published next Monday night. It might be well not only for the students but for all people who desire to keep informed on this matter to preserve these papers for the clippings.

We are going to keep the outline printed below in this department of the paper, as we feel that it covers the field very well. It will aid the student by showing him how information which is printed here and gathered elsewhere will apply to the subject. This is not presented of course as an outline for the speech, but is given merely to assist the student to marshal his material. We hope that some of it will help him in formulating his oration and will bolster what he gathers together in his preparation. By a study of this outline the contestants can see that logically any fact, whether it be of the history of the movement, the effects of alcohol, the social aspects or the nature of adoption, may be used as material on the question, "The Obligation of the Citizen to the Eighteenth Amendment."

The Obligations of the Citizens to the Eighteenth Amendment

I.—Obligation of citizens to all law.
  A. Nature of law.
  B. Object of law.
  C. Relation of law to liberty.
  D. Background of any law.
  E. Necessity of the particular law or constitution.
  F. Purpose of the Constitution or the law.
II.—Eighteenth Amendment.
  A. The culmination of years of teaching and work.
  B. Effects on the social life of the community.
  1. Effects on human body.
  C. Effects on the economic life of the community.
  D. Effects on the political life of the community and state.
  E. History of the development of the law.
  1. First temperance society, 1808.
  2. Washingtonian movement.
  3. Sons of temperance.
  4. Good Templars.
  5. Murphy movement.
  6. W. C. T. U.
  7. Prohibition party.
  8. Anti-Saloon League.
  9. Various church temperance societies.
  F. Eighteenth Amendment has its foundation in needs of social life and common good.
  G. Development of political action.
  1. Local option laws.
  2. Township, city, county and state prohibition laws.
  3. Thirty-three states already having adopted prohibition before national prohibition.
  4. Methods of adoption of Constitutions.
  5. Resolution through congress.
  6. Adoption by legislatures of states.
    a. All but two states ratified eighteenth amendment.
  H. History of activities since adopted by United States.
  1. Decrease of various forms of evil resulting from liquor traffic.
    a. Bank accounts.
    b. Condition of homes.
    c. Purchase of homes.
    d. Purchase of materials and luxuries, automobiles, etc.
  I. The adoption of it has vindicated the wisdom of the people in adopting it.

EXCERPT FROM A SERMON BY HARRY EMERSON FOSDICK

Do you remember that old liquor traffic? In 1912 the Retail Liquor Dealers' associaion met in Ohio. Here is an excerpt from one of the speeches:

"We must create the appetite for liquor in the growing boys. Men who drink . . . will die, and if there is no new appetite created, our counters will be empty as well as our coffers. The open field for the creation of appetite is among the boys. Nickels expended in treats to boys now, will return in dollars to your tills after the appetite has been formed."

Do you remember that old liquor traffic?

This last week a friend of mine said that his boy, aged 12, had just remarked to him, "Father, what is a saloon?"

Agreed that the present situation is unsatisfactory—let us not forget the situation which we faced before!

This last summer in Europe I read constantly in the papers distressing reports about the disclosures in Philadelphia: corrupt collusion between bootleggers and the police force, with stipends regularly passing from the law-breakers to the city officials. Distressing, is it not? To hear some people talk about it you would suppose that this wicked bribery of officialdom had now for the first time been launched on us by prohibition. Do you remember that old liquor traffic when there was hardly a town in the United States that was not thoroughly honeycombed with corruption from the organized trade? In Pennsylvania in 1914, as the result of one investigation only, approximately 100 liquor corporations and associations were indicted for violation of the conspiracy section of the federal criminal code and scarcely any of them bothered to defend the action. They cynically paid the fine.

Here in New York, we are commonly informed that prohibition does not prohibit and that we are in a bad way. I should suppose that obvious, but do you recall the old New York? Some of you should remember back in 1884, the year of the "Boodle Board of Aldermen — 12 saloon-keepers, four saloon-controlled politicians, 16 out of 24. That same year, out of 1002 Democratic and Republican primaries and conventions held in this city, 633 were held in saloons and 96 in places next door to them.

This use of memory to visualize the situation before prohibition should be insisted upon. Large numbers of the younger generation never saw this sort of thing, never lived, as some of us have done, in towns like Boston with one saloon license for every 310 inhabitants, where Ten Nights in a Bar Room was no fairy tale but a literal story to whose characters we, from the number of our friends, could append specific names.

This summer I met a youth returning from his first trip to Europe. He never had seen a publicly licensed saloon system in operation. He saw it in Britain—public houses with wire cages in front of them where little children, not allowed by law to be taken inside the public houses, were poured and huddled to fight like cats and dogs, while their mothers were inside getting drunk. This young man said to me: I have never been for prohibition but I am now. If that is what it means to have a publicly licensed saloon system, then this thing we have in the United States, bad as it is, is better than that."

LIQUOR TRADE WAS ALWAYS LAWLESS

Now, many youths who have never seen this old regime, and many old folks whose memories are not in good working order, look on prohibition and say, See the bootleggers, hijackers, racketeers, and lawlessness everywhere! Agreed! But the liquor trade in the United States always has been lawless. It has always vomited criminality across the commonwealths. It always has conspired against any government that licensed it or any laws that were supposed to control it.

It may be that some of you will not take this from me, a minister, as a fair statement of the matter. Will you, then, listen to the liquor trade itself? The National Liquor Dealers' Journal of September 10, 1913, said this:

"To us there is the handwriting on the wall and its interpretation spells doom. The liquor business is to blame. It seems incapable of learning any lesson of advancement or motive but profit. To perpetuate itself it has formed alliances with the slums. . . . It deliberately aids the most corrupt political powers. . . . There are billions of property involved . . . but when the people decide that the truth is being told about the alcoholic liquor traffic the money value will not count."

We agree, then, that the present situation is not satisfactory, but let us not forget what lies behind.

In the second place, in the endeavor to make prohibition unattractive, caricature has been ingeniously employed. A hideous fanatic with a high hat, a black tie, and a rumpled umbrella has become symbolical of prohibition. This kill-joy spirit of bigoted Puritanism, we are told, wrote the prohibitory laws. That, however, is obviously an inadequate presentation of the case. That fanaticism played a part in this reform no one will doubt; every reform has its lunatic fringe. But no one can state the case fairly without noting how large a part was played by forces not fanatical at all, such as, for example, American business.

Some day I propose a sermon in this pulpit on the thesis that moral reforms do not commonly succeed until the economic motive gets behind them. That certainly was true of prohibition. All the churches, social reformers, W. C. T. U.'s and Anti-Saloon leagues in the United States never could have put the law on the statute books, had not the business motive become involved. One of the basic facts necessary to understand the prohibitory campaign is that American business found it impossible to run modern machines with drunk-befuddled brains.

When Mr. Ford, says, for example, that if prohibition is given up he may have to close his factories, most people think it a joke or, at best, an ingenious piece of propaganda. Personally, I suspect that Mr. Ford is seriously in earnest and that what he has in mind are certain cold, unsentimental statistics of the sort that he is accustomed to deal with. Here is one of them: That from 1919 to 1925 the per capita productivity of the workers in the automobile business increased 100 per cent. Here is another: That from 1919 to 1925 the per capita productivity of all the workers in the rubber tire business increased 139 per cent. All up and down the list the United States bureau of labor statistics reports what it calls "unbelievable" increases in the per capita production of American workmen.

MANY PROBLEMS OF SCHOOLS DISCUSSED

BY ELWOOD SQUIRES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENT, Nov. 28. — The school problems of California will be taken to Washington, D. C., for consideration at a national meeting of state educational superintendents and commissioners in December, State Superintendent of Education Vierling Kersey announced today.

Federal Commissioner of Education William John Cooper, formerly state superintendent of education in California, has called the meeting for the purpose of conducting a general discussion of problems facing educators in the United States.

"With its rapidly growing population, California has many problems which I shall present at the national meeting," said Kersey.

"Not the least of these is the question of the future of our junior colleges and state teachers college. Linked with this question is that of the forming of four year colleges from existing junior colleges. It is a problem which affects both the educational and financial interest of the state and one which must be solved. I shall ask the national meeting to aid me in finding a plan for its solution."

Education opportunities in California requires equalizing, Kersey declared. With this goes the difficulty of placing money devoted to education where it is most needed. Speaking of this, Kersey said:

"It is a fact that there must be an equalization of educational opportunities in California. Our country districts need more education and more money. The cities are generally well provided for, but the less prosperous regions are under a handicap in educating their children.

"This condition exists all over the United States and I am hopeful of exchanging ideas with other educators on the subject."

Aeronautics, radio, and a host of new subjects are being taught in a haphazard way in high schools of California, Kersey believes. They demand stabilization, he said, and this subject will be discussed at Washington. Teachers for these subjects are now largely being taken out of the particular profession and Kersey thinks it possible that they may be trained by our school system for the work, instead of being brought in from the industry.

Administration of schools and the size of units under one administratiive head will be taken to the national capital by Kersey as a moot question. The "distance" problem of students and enlarging of the junior high school system will also by presented by him.

Should teachers be as highly trained as doctors, lawyers, engineers and other professional persons- This is another question which the state superintendent wants considered at Washington.

"Some educators feel that we must make a profession of teaching and start training prospective teachers for this profession when they enter our universities and colleges. Others contend that we must not back down on the present system of providing a broad education with a short period of actual instruction in the business of teaching," Kersey concluded.

Generally speaking, women float easier on water than men. This is because their bones are lighter and a larger per cent of their bodies is adipose.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Day and daughter, Miss Phyllis and Julia, and son, John Day, motored to San Diego Sunday.

Francis Penhall, Judge Bentley, Harry Penhall and Raymond Penhall were among local men who attended the playoff between the Huntington Beach and Cypress ball teams Sunday, and which for a second time resulted in a tie.

Mrs. Ruth Penhall and parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walton, and brother, Charles Walton, motored to Whittier Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. P. Heil entertained as evening dinner guests in their home, Mrs. Heil's mother, Mrs. Brown, who had just returned from the north, and her brother, Junior Brown, and family of Tustin.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Day and daughter and son, Annabelle and Herbert, and Mrs. Day's mother, Mrs. Ella Penhall, spent Sunday in Corona, where they visited in the F. C. Day home.

Miss Clara Miller, of Long Beach, returned Monday to Long Beach after a week end visit in the home of her sister, Mrs. Linna Loomis.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris entertained as guests over Saturday night and Sunday, Mrs. Mary Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. William Osbourn and two children, of Taft. Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Jackson, friends from Glendale, were entertained as dinner guests by Mr. and Mrs. Morris.

Mrs. Winifred Morris attended a bridge party and luncheon given Monday in Huntington Beach by Mrs. Lynn Robb.

Mrs. Hilma Huddleston, kindergarten teacher of the Westminster school, is ill in the home of her mother, Mrs. Martin, in Huntington Beach with scarlet fever.

The Pritchard home in New Westminster is under quarantine for scarlet fever.

The Westminster county branch library will not open again until th eprevailing scarlet fever epidemic has passed and school is reopened. It is possible that the local schools will not reopen on next Monday as planned.

Two more families in this school district have been placed under quarantine, those of Elsworth Skinner, where two of the children are ill, and of W. M. Schmidt at Midway City where one of the sons of the family has the disease.

Mrs. Ethel Buck returned Sunday from a motor trip to Hanford, where she went on Saturday accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Mary Johnson, of Long Beach. They visited Mrs. Buck's mother, Mrs. McKnight, a former local resident, with whom Mrs. Johnson will remain for a while.

Mrs. W. B. McCoy and son, Bryce McCoy, motored to Corona Sunday, spending the day with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McCoy and son, Bryce McCoy, and Mr. McCoy's sister, Miss Jessie McCoy, attended the funeral Sunday, of a cousin, Wells McCoy, at Beaumont. The deceased was a pioneer Westminster resident, being a son of Dr. James McCoy, a pioneer physician in this section. It is about 40 years since the deceased resided here.

Members of the "Tuxus gild" Sunday school class of Mrs. Clarence Groves met for an evening at the church hall and worked upon the rugs whic hthey are making for Mrs. R. A. Weld. A short social time during which refreshments were served followed the hour's work. Those present were Marguerite McGuire, Delcine Baker, Elenore McGarvin, Vera Stone, Lucille Carpenter, Mildred Kilday, Lucille Grow, Anna Weld, Hattie Edward and Mrs. Groves.

Mrs. C. B. McCall have gone to Burbank to remain until Saturday with Mr. McCall's brother, E. F. McCall, and wife.

Chester Lee Hemstreet, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hemstreet, who has been ill the past six weeks, is allowed up fifteen minutes each day by the attending physician. His recovery is very slow.

Mr. and Mrs. Rene Gaeyens of the Hellman ranch have a baby daughter in their home, whose birth occurred November 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Falcke entertained as their house guests for two days, Mr. Falcke's sister, Mrs. Mamie Benton, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Matthiesen, and her daughter, Shirley Lou, of Reno, Nevada.

Members of the Westminster Gun club came Tuesday evening from Los Angeles, Pasadena and Santa Monica for a turkey dinner at the club.

The second nomination of officers of the Aloha Rebekah lodge was held at Tuesday evening's lodge meeting. Election of officers is scheduled for December 10.

The noble grand of the Aloha lodge, Mrs. May Mansperger, presented four veteran pins at Tuesday's meeting, the four members receiving them being Mrs. Alice Hare, who has been a member for 25 years; Mrs. Etta Wright and Mrs. Nellie Murdy of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Nellie Morgan, of Westminster who have belonged 15 years.

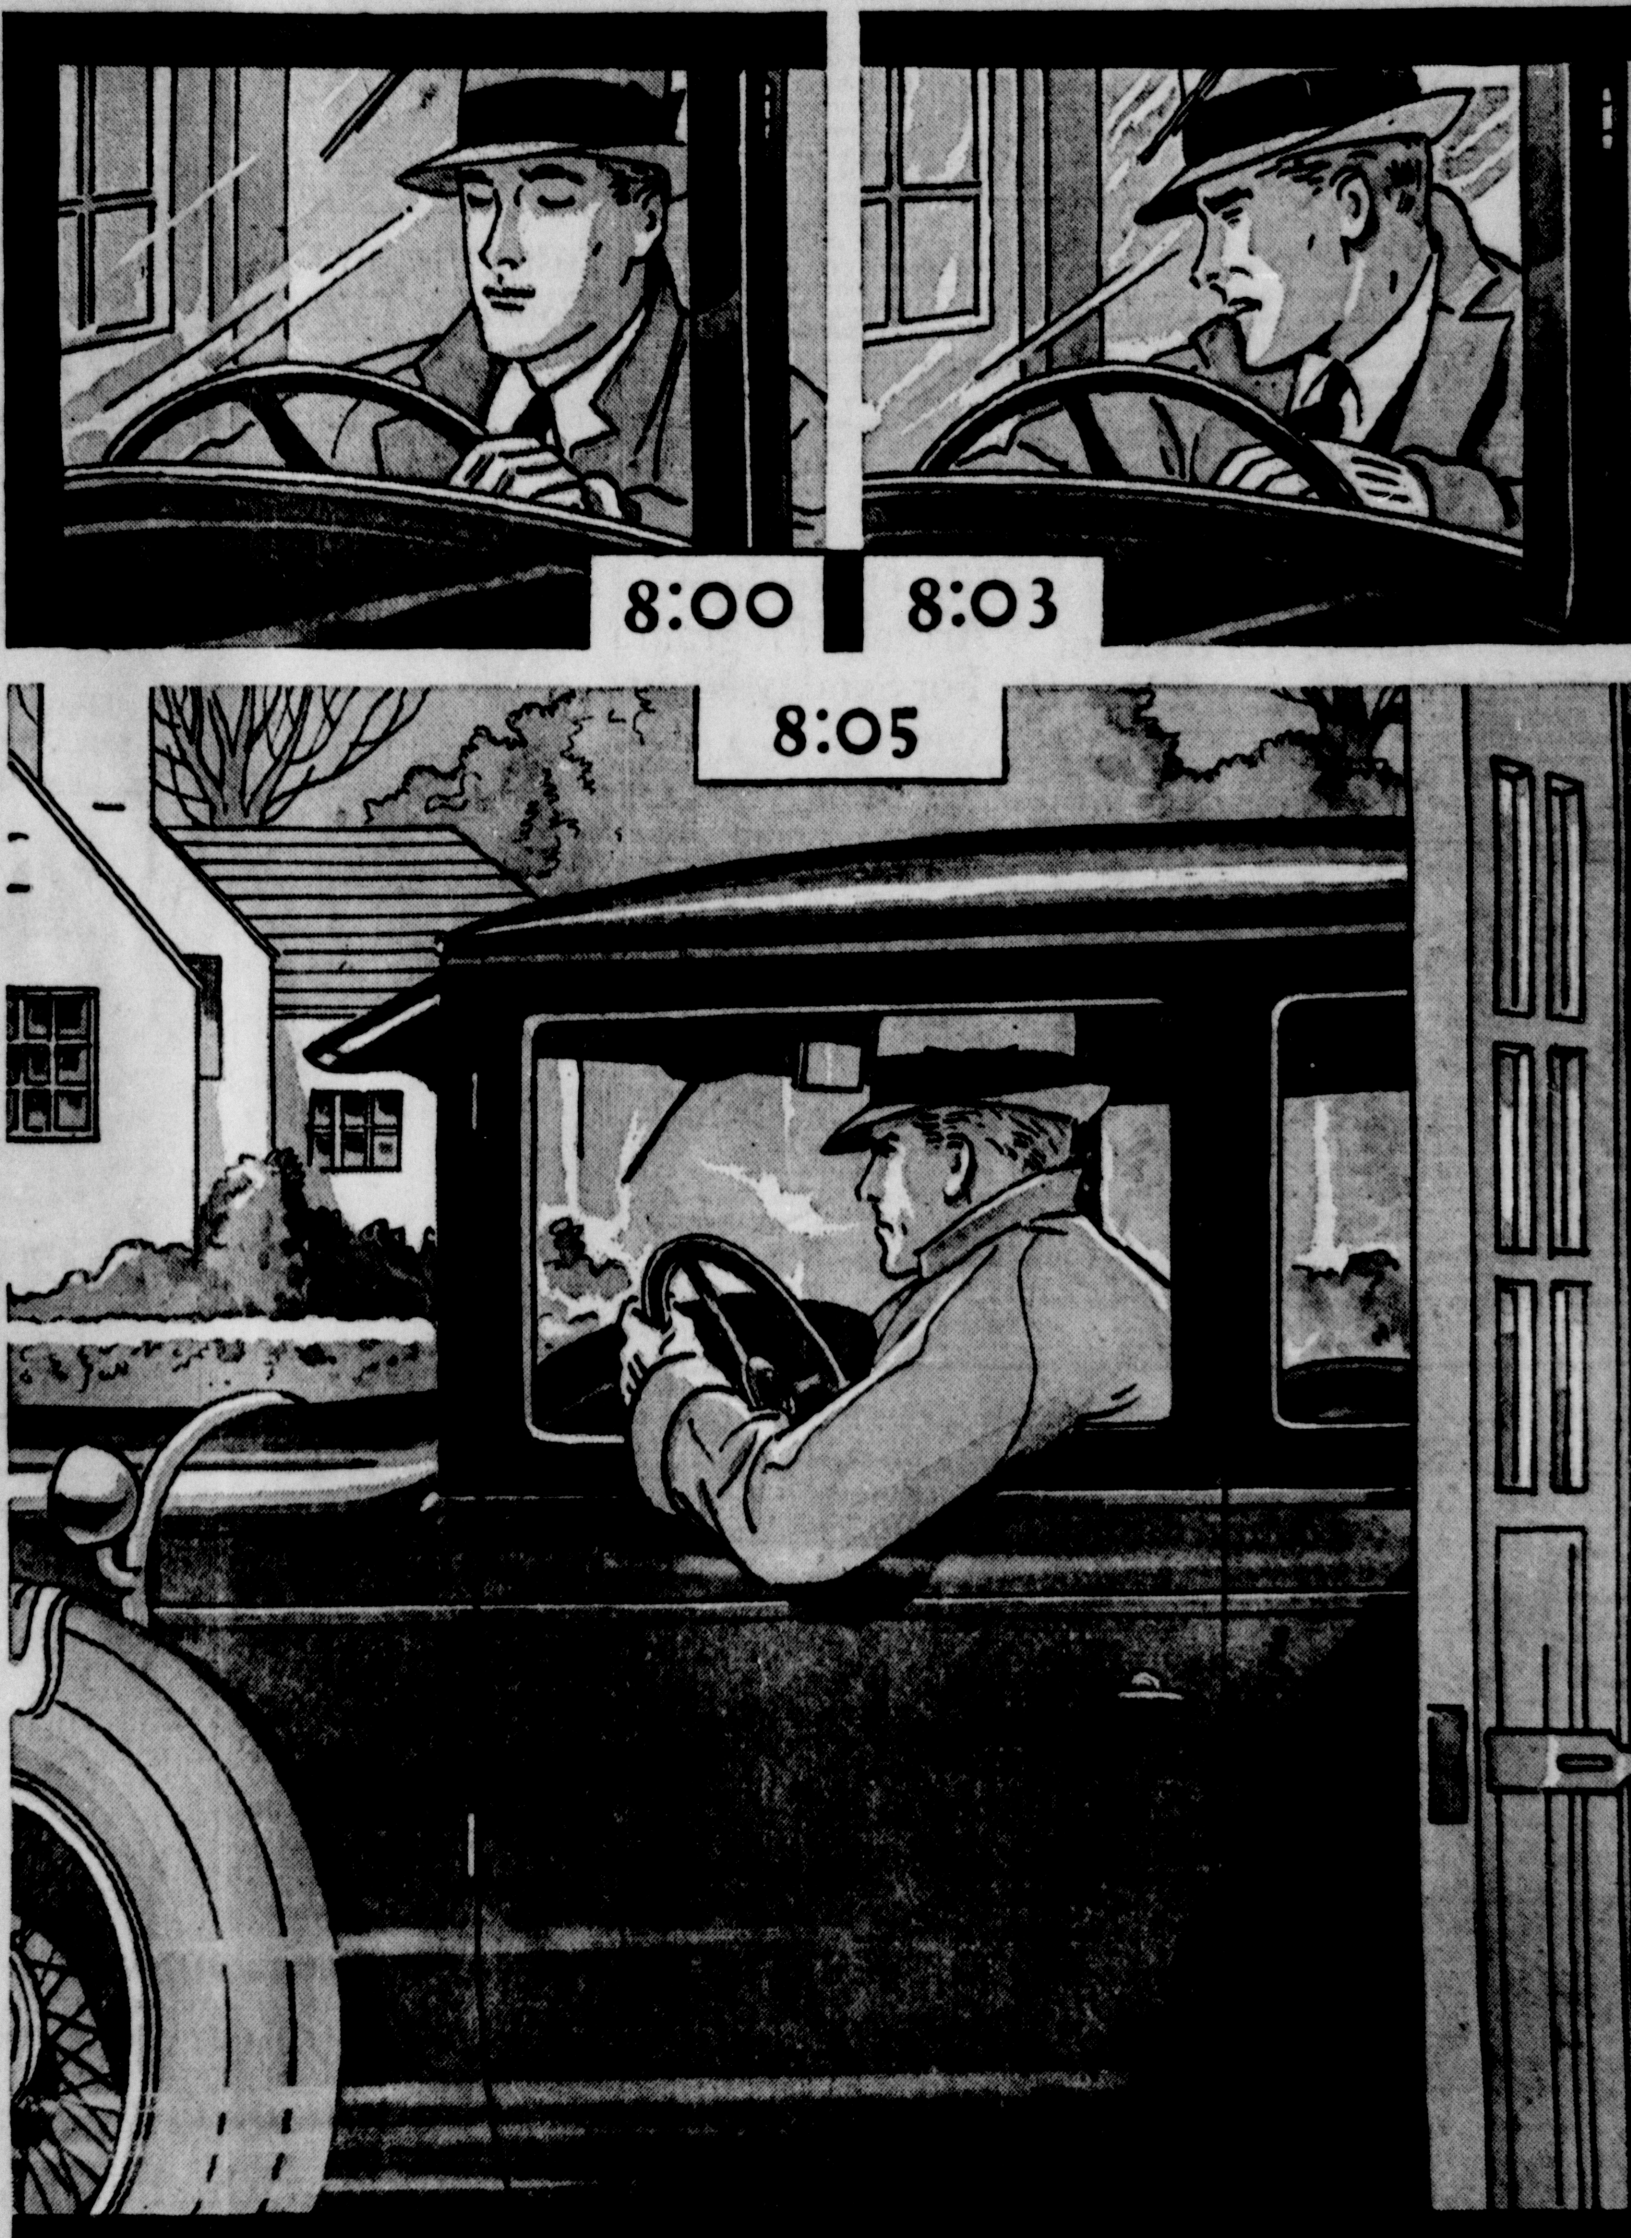
"WET" GASOLINE

..what an infernal nuisance on a cold morning



NOT wet with water—just simply loaded with too-heavy fractions of petroleum—that's "wet" gasoline. It can't vaporize in a cold engine.

You "choke it" until the motor gurgles. And finally you go missing and spitting and jerking down the street.

Why tolerate it? Why accept "winter grades" of "wet" gasoline any more than summer grades?

There is a "dry" gas—one that starts on half choke and warms up the balkiest motor in half a moment. And the best part about Shell 400, this quick starting "dry" gas, is that it cuts down your oil dilution.

Drive with it a thousand miles and you'll find your oil has very little gasoline in it—not over 10%. But worry through a thousand miles on "wet" gasoline and you'll likely find 40% or even 50% crankcase dilution—caused by gasoline running down the cylinder walls into the oil.

Select a convenient yellow and red Shell pump. Fill with Shell 400 when your tank is low—and see how much quicker and easier you get started the following morning.

BLOW YOUR BREATH ON A COLD MIRROR

... that's what happens to "wet" gasoline in a cold motor—it condenses in droplets on the cylinder walls. "Dry" gas, on the other hand, stays vaporized better and therefore burns more cleanly

2 PLAYS GIVEN BY PUPILS OF GRADE SCHOOL

COSTA MESA, Nov. 29.—Probably the outstanding event of the school year was the entertainment rendered by the 8 A's and 8 B's in the school assembly Wednesday afternoon, members of both classes co-operating. Two plays in keeping with the season were performed by a cast of characters chosen from the two classes, the plays being, "The First Thanksgiving" and "The Difficult Thanksgiving."

Edward King read President Hoover's Thanksgiving proclamation, several vocal numbers were sung by the Misses Lyla Ruth Allen, Margaret Cleveland and Evelyn Rollins, a violin duet was executed by Albert Ogden and Lucille Boyd and the Misses Anne Pierce and Janette Kesel rendered a piano solo each.

The 8 A class with Mrs. Maude Kennedy, teacher, is made up of the following pupils: LeRoy Stafford, Edward King, Fobert Carter, Elmas Anderson and Glen Craft, Anne Pearce, Lyla Ruth Allen, Lucille Boyd, Irene McIntee, Mary Yost and Jeannette Kesel.

The 8 B's, with Mrs. Winifred Taylor as teacher, are Wallace Yeargan, Howard Grebe, Herschel Carlyle, Benny Hitt, Albert Ogden, George Raines, Naomi Wallace, Norma Wallace, Margaret Cleveland, Doris Rittenhouse, Doris McMurtry, Genevieve Clark, Sigrid Nelsen, Annabel Raines, Evelyn Rollins, Nellie Rivera and Grace Dennis.

SLIM FIGURE NOW UNFASHIONABLE

Women and Girls Can Now Be Healthy as Well as Stylish

That excessive and unnatural slimness that ruined the health of thousands of women and young girls is no longer fashionable. Paris couturiers are developing clothes for the rounded figure. Musical comedy producers are searching for healthy, normal figures for the stage. All the world is getting health-wise where the human figure is concerned.

This means that women and girls will be encouraged to eat enough varied foods at regular meals to supply the requirements of health. It means that tuberculosis, anemia and other dangerous results of undernourishment may be more easily averted. And to the eyes of discerning men and beauty experts, it means that women will be more natural and more beautiful.

Eat cereals, milk, fruits, vegetables and meats daily. Do not gorge or overeat, but eat variety. Remember that flavor is the one important factor in causing people to eat varieties of foods, and that sugar is nature's supreme condiment for developing the flavors of nearly every healthful food.

The necessity of a dash of sugar for making cereals, fruits and milk desserts delicious is well known. Women cooking experts recently discovered that a dash of sugar in vegetables while they are cooking revolutionizes their freshness and natural vegetable flavors. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute. —Adv.

Valuable Chickens Stolen from Ranch In Mesa District

COSTA MESA, Nov. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Smith, residing on North Fairview avenue where they are engaged in the poultry industry, recently suffered the loss of a fine pen of Rhode Island Red breeding stock by thieves. There were 35 valuable birds in the pen.

COUNTY PIONEER IS LAID TO REST

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 29.—Mrs. Vicento Abila de Doyle, pioneer of San Juan Capistrano, was buried Wednesday in the Fullerton cemetery.

Mrs. Doyle, who was a granddaughter of Don Juan Abila del Rico, named "Don Juan the Rich," was born and raised in San Juan Capistrano. She was a sister of Jose Abila, of San Juan Capistrano, and a daughter of Manuel Aciano Abila. She died after a lingering illness at the age of 68 years.

Mrs. Doyle was born in Casa Abila, once a show place of Southern California, and of which only a portion of the famous mansion is still standing, now occupied by Donna Magdalena Morrillo. At the time of her birth Don Juan Abila del Rico owned the Rancho San Niguel, now the Moulton ranch, which lies to the north of San Juan Capistrano.

The deceased is survived by Mrs. Vicenta Carlton, Anaheim, daughter; James Doyle, Fullerton, son; William Doyle, Los Angeles, son; Mrs. Isaac Lopero, Anaheim, sister; Manuel Abila, Mariposa, brother; Jose Abila, San Juan Capistrano, brother; Thelma Doyle, Los Angeles, granddaughter.

Mass was sung from the Fullerton Catholic church at 10 a. m.

P.-T. A. President To Speak Dec. 11

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 29.—Mrs. Neal Beisel, of Santa Ana, fourth district president of the Parent-Teacher association, will be the principal speaker at the next meeting of the San Juan Capistrano P.-T. A. The meeting will be held in the high school December 11 at 7:30 o'clock. Besides the speaking the meeting will be featured by a musical program. The public is invited to attend.

ROAD DISTRICT GIVEN PROMISE OF RAPID WORK

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 29.—Mayor George Champion, of Laguna Beach, third member of the board of directors of the Ortega joint highway district, was the principal speaker at the meeting of the San Juan Capistrano Chamber of Commerce at the Hotel Capistrano Wednesday noon.

The subject of the Laguna mayor's discourse was his assurance of complete co-operation with the people of San Juan Capistrano in the quick construction of the road, which he said, would be one of the major projects in road building in this section of the state.

It was pointed out at the meeting that the district would not be organized into an assessment district, but that the directors were planning an appropriation from the county general fund to complete the work in this county, as well as a substantial slice of the state money laid aside for the construction of joint district roads.

The improvement of McKinley road next comes up for discussion, the road committee reporting that Supervisor George Jeffrey had promised to have the road graded and put into shape. Ferris F. Kelly, one of the members of the road committee, suggested that ranchers be interviewed regarding the possibility of having McKinlty road paved. Kelly said that in the event that ranchers would be willing to bargain with the county for right of ways so that the road could be straightened, the county was willing to make the road a 60-foot macadam highway. The road committee will work on the problem.

Elks Of Anaheim Arrange Program For Sunday Night

ANAHEIM, Nov. 29.—A program is being arranged for Memorial night, which will be observed by Anaheim Elks Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Special music and a number of talks are on the program.

Party Enjoyed By Costa Mesa Group

COSTA MESA, Nov. 29.—Immediately following the Wednesday evening Thanksgiving services of the Community church conducted by the Rev. A. F. Hasse, the junior league members and friends to the number of about 40 moved from the church auditorium over into the social hall under the chaperonage of Mrs. Hasse. Games and stunts were played.

The refreshment committee, the Misses Helen Fuller, Jane Filnn and Nancy Holt, had punch and cookies ready.

BREA CHAMBER PLANS PROGRAM AT HIGH SCHOOL

BREA, Nov. 29. — Community night at the Brea-Olinda high school will sippant the regular dinner meeting of the chamber of commerce, it was announced at Wednesday's meeting at the Olson and Dyer cafe.

The program will be in charge of E. H. Peterkin, chairman, and his committee. The program will be in the nature of a surprise.

A meeting of the Imperial Boulevard association, recently organized, has been called for December 6, at Yorba Linda.

President Massey named Assemblyman Ted Craig as a director on this association, A. V. Van Tuyle, and Carson Rodgers, who with Mr. Peterkin comprise the Chamber's road committee, will attend the meetings of the road association.

A letter was read from the Fullerton Realty Board asking the endorsement of Brea on the California land show that is to be held in Los Angeles in March. The letter was referred to the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

Mr. Reukena, recently associated with Woodruff's Inc., was introduced.

Tustin Group To Convene Tuesday

TUSTIN, Nov. 29.—The Tustin literature section of the Ebell society will meet at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday with Mrs. Howard Wassum in her home on East Fruit street, Tustin. The program will consist of Christmas magazine stories.

Member Drive Planned By Legion Post

ANAHEIM, Nov. 29.—A membership drive will be opened next Friday evening by members of the local American Legion post and the American Legion auxiliary.

The drive is to be opened with a card party and dance.

ANAHEIM PYTHIAN SISTERS TO ELECT

ANAHEIM, Nov. 29. — Officers will be elected at the meeting of the Pythian Sisters next Wednesday evening in the K. of P. hall. Mrs. Grace Smith is most excellent chief. The members of the organization are planning to hold a Christmas party in December, when there will be a tree for children.

BEACH DEAL TO BE CLOSED BY BOARD MONDAY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 29.—The city council has a number of important matters scheduled to come up Monday night. There will be a report on the municipal pier by the engineers, Thomas Berry and Merwin Rosson, who have spent six weeks inspecting the pier to determine its condition. Professional divers were sent down in diving suits to cut away the shell fish and examine the pilings. A platform was dropped beneath the pier for inspection of the floor supports. It is understood the report will possibly recommend an extension of the pier into deep water beyond the white caps.

The city trustees are expecting the title to the beach front property will be approved by the title company and the purchase of $250,000 worth of beach front clsoed. The strip to be acquired by the city is half a mile long, extending from Main street at the pier east to the city limits. The Pacific Electric joins the sale with the Huntington Beach company and it was necessary to get a mortgage release before the Pacific Electric could give title.

A report from the city attorney, L. W. Blodget, and the city engineer, Merwin Rosson, as to the best plan to follow in freeing the city from abandoned or idle oil derricks that are unsafe from improper guying will be made to the council and that body will take the first step toward getting rid of some 90 unsightly and unsafe oil derricks.

The trustees also are planning to take action against oil rectifying plants from which issue objectionable odors.

Huntington Beach Students Present Play December 13

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 29.—The junior class play of the high school will be staged December 13. "Once There Was a Princess" is the title of the play. The following students will take part: Florence Bowman, Stanley Champion, Dorothy Hamren, Lawrence Ridenour, Charlotte Eader, Rachael Lamb, Gwendolyn Reeves, James Hathcock, Roberta Williams, Maxine Preston, Maxine Jenkins, Verna Helm. Miss Lucile Bennison, teacher of dramatics, is directing the play.

Paramount has added another winner to the list of pictures which are making 1929 "Paramount's Greatest Year."

"Three Week Ends," Clara Bow's new Elinor Glyn picture which will open at the West End theater today for a run of two days, is the latest thing from this studio.

People are talking about "Three Weeks Ends" as they talked about "It," the first one of the Clara Bow-Elinor Glyn combinations, and about the second, "Red Hair." It is a cyclone of love, laughs and legs with the Bow personality whirling all through it.

Clara Bow snaps things up in this story of a little East Side girl who gets a job dancing in a cabaret and dances right into the hearts of a rich playboy and a poverty-stricken salesman.

TRICYCLES REPAIRED. FIX IT SHOP, 105 E. 3rd.—(Adv.)

LUMBER YARD AND HARDWARE SHOP MENACED

BUENA PARK, Nov. 29. — Fire last night completely destroyed the Buena Park fire hall, all the equipment of the department and threatened the destruction of the Buena Park Lumber company yard on one side of the hall and the Buena Park Hardware company store on the other side.

The property of the two business concerns was saved through the efforts of the Fullerton fire department. The loss to the fire department included two fire trucks, trailer, 1800 feet of hose and two pieces of chemical apparatus. A part of the hose had been purchased recently at a cost of $600.

The fire was discovered at 6:30 o'clock and is thought to have been caused by a short circuit in one of the trucks. The flames were seen issuing from the building by J. W. Muzzel who lives across the street.

Before the Fullerton fire company arrived $700 worth of lumber belonging to the lumber company which was on a vacant lot next to the fire hall, was burned.

Arrangements have been in progress for some time to locate the fire department in a new building No insurance was carried on the hall or equipment.

GLAMOROUS HOSIERY

tobacco

Camels have always welcomed comparison with any other cigarette because the true test of value is the pleasure to be found in smoking.

The most important thing for smokers to know is that genuine cigarette quality must begin with the selection of tobaccos. Nothing can take the place of quality tobacco. Thus the extraordinary goodness of Camels begins with the choicest tobaccos grown and these are blended with expert skill to achieve the mildness and surpassing fragrance of this great cigarette. It is this genuineness of quality which smokers appreciate when they have passed the experimental stage and know real smoking pleasure.

THE TINYMITES

Story by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KNICK

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

The little Tinymites were sad 'cause everything had turned out bad. They worked away at scrubbing and the ship looked very clean. "I'd like to stop this work right now," wee Clowny said, "but, gee, somehow I am afraid to do it. It would likely start a scene.

"The captain of the ship is rough and I am sure he'd make it tough for all of us if we should disobey his sharp commands. I've scrubbed until my back is sore and I can't keep it up much more. Just look at me. Why, I have worn big blisters on my hands."

"That's 'cause you're tender," Scouty cried. "From real hard work you always hide. The rest of us seem quite all right, although we're all tired out. Let's work real hard and sing a tune and we'll be finished pretty soon. When Mister Captain says, 'That's all,' I'll want to jump and shout."

Just then the captain came in sight. Said he. "Well, so far you're all right. I guess I'll let you rest a while. It's time to sleep a bit. All folks begin to yawn and sigh whene'er the moon's high in the sky. Turn in and get your sleep now so tomorrow you'll feel fit."

He then gave them some old fried bread. "That's all you get tonight," he said. "Now scamper to the coal hold. I will wake you up at dawn." The Tinies did as they were told by Mister Captain, brave and bold. The next thing that the captain knew the tired out band was gone.

Down in the deep coal hold they sat. And soon a voice said, "Where's you at?" It was the happy looking cook. He shortly found the bunch. "Hello there! I'm a friendly sort," said he. "To prove that I'm a sport, I've brought you all a bit of food. 'Twill make a dandy lunch."

(Clowny runs into trouble in the next story.)

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example: to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE, TIE, PIE, PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

TURN to COAT—TURN COAT is a tricky par seven hole which shouldn't cause you any trouble unless you've got indigestion from too much Thanksgiving turkey.

LONGFELLOW'S FASHION SHOW PROVES BIG HIT

nursemaid, rolled dice on the stage.

Instead of announcing the program in the usual way, a mysterious voice shouted from the roof of the auditorium. Fake curtains and many extra drops and spotlights added to the illusions. Miss Clara Kate Owens, social commissioner, and Florence Brownridge co-operated with the Longfellows in securing the costumes for the show.

Members of the club appearing in the cast of the presentation were Al Kluthe, Bob Squires, Bill Crawford, Ed Adams, Ernest Stump, Charles Teas, Joe Warner, Alvin Arrendell, George Paddock, Elmer Whistler, Sam Griswold, John "Sky" Dunlap, Kenneth Tanaka and Charlie Greenleaf.

Court Notes

John Camper and C. N. Flint were made defendants in a suit to quiet title which was filed in superior court Wednesday by F. C. Beecher. The property involved is described as lot 13 in block 10 of the town of Benedict, Orange county. They also are defendants in a similar action filed by J. F. Robison concerning lot five in block nine of the same town.

A suit has been filed in superior court here by Howard R. Brown against Mina L. Spradlin, et al, asking judgment for $652.28, costs and attorneys' fees and foreclosure of a lien on certain land in the Yorba Linda tract owned by the defendant. The action grew out of a contract for installing a pipe line, which Brown alleges was completed according to the contract and for which he has not been paid.

The inventory and appraisal of the estate of John Schilling, filed in court here today by John N. Anderson, fixes a value of $13,700 on the estate, which consists of two parcels of real estate.

Suit to quiet title to property in Laguna Beach was filed in superior court Wednesday by R. G. Tuthill [illegible] Vincent and wife, [illegible] H. E. Reed, administrator of the estate of H. E. Goff, C. D. Scott, A. B. Frampton and D. M. Kuhan, as defendants.

Suits to quiet title were filed in superior court today by the Sun Oil company of California and the Columbia Leasing and Developing company, naming Lyman C. Hisey, et al, as defendants. The Sun Oil company asks title to all of block 2106 of Eastside Villa tract and the other suit covers 12 lots in block 2004 of Vista Del Mar tract.

Probation for two years was granted David O. Butts today as a result of his hearing before Judge James L. Allen on an application for probation. A condition of probation was a sentence of six months to the county jail, which was suspended pending good behavior. Butts pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery when arraigned before Judge Allen last Friday.

W. T. Dollar, who is charged with assault with a deadly weapon, pleaded not guilty before Judge James L. Allen today, when he appeared to answer to the arraignment. The case was set for trial January 9, when the defendant will be tried before a jury.

Maynard Workman entered a plea of guilty before Judge Allen today on a charge of grand theft set forth in an information filed by the district attorney's office. The charge grew out of the alleged theft on October 7, of a sedan owned by J. B. Hickey. Workman entered an application for probation and the hearing on this matter was set for December 6.

50 FAMILIES MADE HOMELESS IN FIRE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—(UP)—Damage from a fire which yesterday burned four dwellings here, rendering 50 families homeless, was today estimated in excess of $100,000.

An explosion in a Chinese laundry was responsible for the start of the fire, which destroyed flats, an apartment house and the laundry and damaged a Jewish synagogue.

Firemen rescued many women and children as the flames, starting in the early morning hours, swept through the frame buildings.

Valuable manuscripts were saved from the synagogue library before the flames reached the building.

SANTA LAND EXPEDITION STARTS HOME

sleighs and bring the motion picture camera along."

Jack Frost was dressed in a white fur parka, the Eskimos call it an Ar-te-ga and covers the body without being open in the front. On the head of his parka wiggled two ears of the Arctic Hare, and his feet attracted attention. The shoes looked like the stuffed heads of the Arctic Hare with eyes and long wiggling ears. The soles were of ice. The Arctic Hare is the fastest animal in the North, hence Jack wore its symbols.

"Meet Jack Frost," Santa introduced us. Jack bowed politely and shook hands but we quickly drew our hands away for Jack's fingers were colder than ice.

Jack invited us to his ice palace and we started off, but because of the Arctic Hare shoes he wears, he is such a swift traveler, he could not go slow enough to keep up with his guests, so he picked up the movie camera and tripod which slowed down.

Jack's palace is surely a wonderful place. It looked like a gigantic cave in a mountain of ice, crystal clear and shimmering like diamonds and decorations as delicate as the finest lacework. We passed through gardens of ice flowers in the most beautiful forms and varieties, similar to the ones you see on window panes. Wonderfully carved icicles hung down like vines. The shining columns that supported the roof were ornamented with lovely and intricate patterns of ivy and vines. It was of almost impossible and unbelievable beauty and everything shone and sparkled with great radiance.

After our strenuous day with Jack Frost, Santa said he would drive us to his great magic observatory, which is located at the top of an ice mountain not far from the castle.

We left our reindeer at the foot of the mountain and climbed a stairway cut into the sheer wall of ice. It was a long slippery and dangerous climb. We were soon puffing from the exertion, but Santa Claus was neither puffing or panting when we arrived at the top.

Here stood a large dome-shaped building. In its center was a mirror-like pool of mercury, out of which rose a great base supporting a huge telescope. A stairway led to an observation platform on one end of the telescope.

"My telescope is a television telescope. The difference is simply this: Your apparatus is still crude and needs one apparatus to broadcast voice and picture and another to receive it. My apparatus sends the electric impulses to a certain spot and then sends it back in a circle to the starting point as all electric currents are obliged to do on your lights, street cars or electric trains.

"Brick walls do not interfere with your radio or television and neither do they interfere with me."

He cut in several switches and immediately electric motors began to hum. "Now we will adjust the telescope to spy on your town. What would you be most interested in seeing?" asked Santa. I pondered a moment at this momentous question and what it implied, and then I answered: "Show me the editorial rooms of The Register. Finally the focus was adjusted and there sat The Register's editorial force.

"Wonderful," was all I could say as I stepped back.

With Christmas only a few weeks away, we know how busy Santa will be getting ready for his great errand of love, so we are packing up and getting ready to leave. Our hearts are heavy with the impending parting and we are filled with grief at leaving this sanctuary of love for mankind.

Santa also was loathe to see us leave, and he insisted on accompanying us for awhile, for two reasons: First, he feared for our safety at the hands of Layluk, the North Wind.

"Layluk is no friend of mine, and as long as I have known him he has never done one good deed. If he hung up his stockings there would be nothing in them on Christmas morning.

"You escaped him on your way up, but this may have been a sinister design to destroy you on your way back. I must see you safely past his cave. Then you have a long trip back to your Eskimo village with all its dangers.

"I have not visited my neighbors for a year and I want to see how they are getting along with their reindeer."

We hitched up our own team, now full of spirit from their long rest. Santa led the way, and our deer, anxious to keep up with Santa's, just flew over the tundra until we came to within a few miles of Layluk's cave.

The North Wind rolled out of the cave with the force of a cyclone and swept the snow and ice fields with his fury. Our faces and fingers were frozen in a few minutes by the icy blast, and our deer stopped, trembling in their tracks. "Captain," Santa shouted, "You will never make the Pass fighting Layluk as he is today; see, even my magic deer cannot face that field. He will be worse tonight for there is no moon. Turn back, Captain, turn to the valley to the right." Santa wheeled his team and we followed, lashed by the whips of Layluk until we came to a shelter behind some huge rocks in the valley. The moment we had turned our backs to the blizzard Layluk blew snow and ice into the furs of our deer to the very skin to freeze them, but when we stopped the wise animals again faced the wind and shook the snow out of their fur.

"What can we do, Santa," cried Mrs. K. "There is no other way out of your land but through the cave of this horrid Spirit?"

"There is only one answer to the problem," Santa replied.

"What is the answer," she asked.

"We must go above him. I will load you and your equipment into my sleigh and take you soaring into the clouds. Then we will be above Layluk and can look down on him as I do on Christmas evening and laugh as he shakes his black mantel."

Then he produced a big piece of carpet, placed our deer on it and hitched them behind his sleigh.

Santa cracked his long whip. Layluk howled and howled. Santa's deer started to soar aloft. Higher and higher they traveled.

"Now let old Layluk shake his coat," Santa chuckled. "We are safe from him now." Layluk the North Wind had been defeated.

For hours and hours the party sped southward. Through clouds and through cold air the voyagers traveled.

The speed of an express train was not to be compared with the rate we were hurled through the air.

The carpet behind the sleigh soared and Trouncer and the other reindeer seemed to enjoy the ride.

The carpet as if controlled by magic seemed perfectly safe for the animals. Jimmy Aide, the dwarf, climbed from the sleigh and perched on Trouncer's back. It was great sport for the little fellow.

We landed on the level ice fields not far from the Eskimo village, our airplane base. It was the most unusual ride mortal man had ever taken and somehow we were glad to be on solid ground again. We hitched up our own teams once more, for it would not do, Santa said, to arrive at the village other than in a human natural way. As the jingle of our sleighbells was heard in the village, men, women and children popped from their underground igloos, like prairie dogs and came running up to our caravan to give us a great welcome. Patunuk's old father was overcome with joy to see his son back.

TURKEYS WON BY 31 REGISTER CARRIER BOYS

Thirty-one Register carrier boys rejoiced yesterday when they found themselves winners in a Thanksgiving turkey contest, staged by this newspaper during the last three weeks. Each lad who obtained seven new subscriptions to the newspaper during the allotted time was given a gobbler. Max Norman, carrier number 32, won two turkeys.

Aside from the Thanksgiving turkey prizes presented the boys, a bonus was given each winner to add to his team score in the Christmas contest. Awards of value will be distributed among the winning teams in a subscription contest just before Christmas day.

Citizens of Orange county were generous in helping the carriers obtain turkeys and the cheer of the holiday season was manifested in their willingness to aid the ambitious boys.

Carriers winning turkeys were: Charles McWaters, Kenneth Nelson, Robert Anderson, Luther Rimel, Darwin Speck, Ray Damerell, Howard Quiggle, James Horton, Morrison Potter, Blas Mercurio, Harold Willis, Billy Wilson, Joe Sanford, Fred Biles, Jack Illingsworth, John Wallace, Darrell Johnson and Max Norman, of Santa Ana; Wallace Ross, Balboa; Russell Crowell, Brea; Myron Guilbert, Capistrano; Loren Lukens, Cordornez; Lee Kohler, Delhi; Clifford Henderson, Hospital; Carl Hind, Laguna Beach; Ray Ledbetter, La Habra; William Schmidt, Midway City; Charles Ledbetter, Olinda; James Summons, Santa Ana Heights, and Billy Turpin, Westminster.

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE

CHICAGO(Nov. 29.—(UP)—Wheat moved up again just before the closing when reports of hot weather in the Arentine were added to perhaps the most bullish cables from that part of the world yet received. All foreign markets were strong. Exports have increased and buyers are taking hold at the advanced prices. Estimates of the total exportable surplus from both Argentina and Australia are about 125,000,000 bushels, much of which is low grade. Corn and oats followed wheat but very weakly.

At thec lose wehat was 2⅝ to 2⅞c higher; corn ⅛ to ¾c and oats ⅝ to ¾c higher. Provisions were weak.

ORDINANCE NO. 900

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SANTA ANA ESTABLISHING SET-BACK LINES UPON NORTH FLOWER STREET, ON BOTH SIDES OF SAID STREET, FROM THE NORTH LINE OF TRACT NO. 748 TO THE SOUTH LINE OF SANTA CLARA AVENUE IF EXTENDED WESTERLY.

The City Council of the City of Santa Ana do ordain as follows:

Section 1. That the public interest and convenience requires, and there is hereby established set-back lines upon the following street in the City of Santa Ana, California, between which and the respective street lines of said street it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to erect any building, wall, fence or other structure, or place any structure thereon, to-wit:

North Flower Street, on both sides of said street, from the North line of Tract No. 748 to the South line of Santa Clara Avenue if extended Westerly, forty (40) feet outside of the present East and West lines respectively of said street.

Section 2. That the foregoing set-back lines are established after a Resolution of Intention was duly passed and adopted and a hearing held thereon, after notice by publication and posting in the manner prescribed by Ordinance No. 813 of the City of Santa Ana, entitled, "An Ordinance Prescribing the Method of Procedure for Establishing Set-back Lines in the City of Santa Ana" and the City Council having heard and passed upon all protests or objections filed or made to the establishment of said set-back lines.

Section 3. That the Building Inspector of the City of Santa Ana shall refuse to issue any permit for any building, wall, fence or other structure proposed to be erected within the space between the present street lines of the above mentioned street and the set-back lines established by this Ordinance.

Section 4. That any persons, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), or by imprisonment in the County Jail of the County of Orange, for a period of not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Each such person, firm or corporation shall be deemed guilty of a separate offense for each day during any portion of which any violation of this Ordinance shall be permitted, continued or committed by such person, firm or corporation, and shall be punishable therefor as provided by this Ordinance.

Section 5. That the City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this Ordinance and cause the same to be published three times in the Santa Ana Daily Evening Register, a daily newspaper printed, published and generally circulated in the City of Santa Ana, and the same shall take effect and be in force thirty (30) days from the date of its final passage.

The foregoing Ordinance is signed and approved by me this 25th day of November, 1929.

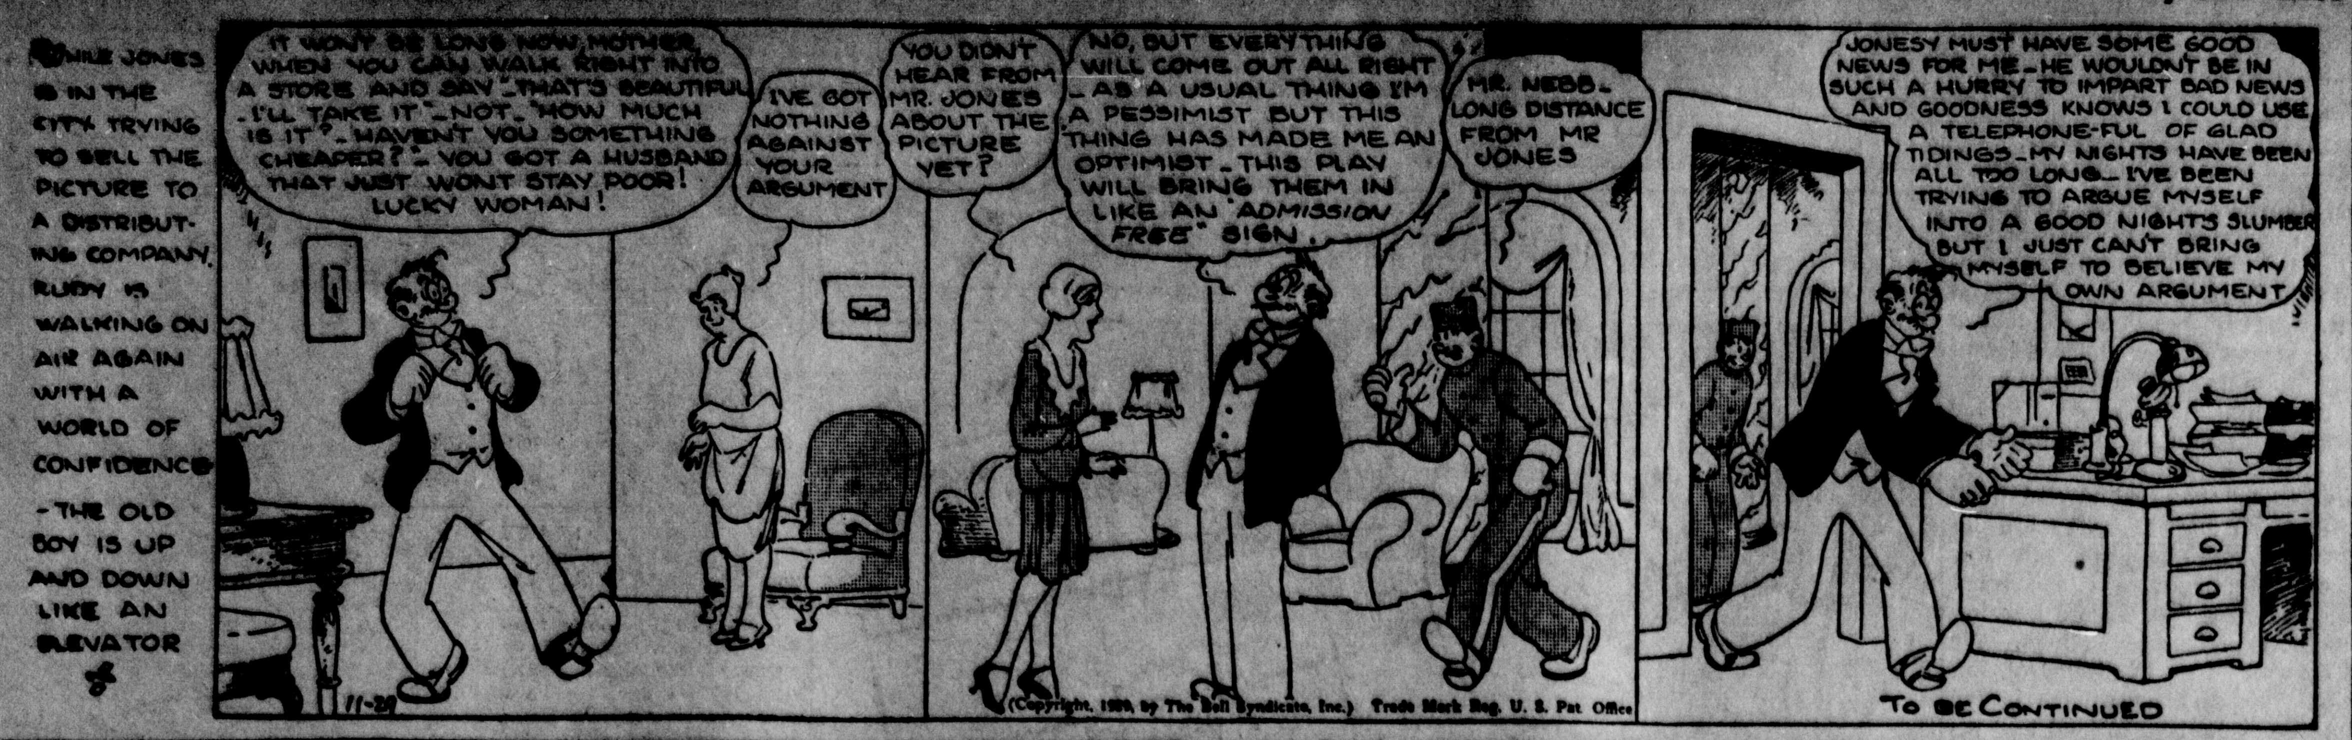
THE NEBBS—Good - But Oh Goodness —By SOL HESS



RUDIE JONES IS IN THE CITY TRYING TO SELL THE PICTURE TO A DISTRIBUTING COMPANY. RUDY IS WALKING ON AIR AGAIN WITH A WORLD OF CONFIDENCE - THE OLD BOY IS UP AND DOWN LIKE AN ELEVATOR
IT WON'T BE LONG NOW, MOTHER, WHEN YOU CAN WALK RIGHT INTO A STORE AND SAY - "THAT'S BEAUTIFUL - I'LL TAKE IT" - NOT "HOW MUCH IS IT? - HAVEN'T YOU SOMETHING CHEAPER?" - YOU GOT A HUSBAND THAT JUST WON'T STAY POOR! LUCKY WOMAN!
I'VE GOT NOTHING AGAINST YOUR ARGUMENT
YOU DIDN'T HEAR FROM MR. JONES ABOUT THE PICTURE YET?
NO, BUT EVERYTHING WILL COME OUT ALL RIGHT - AS A USUAL THING I'M A PESSIMIST BUT THIS THING HAS MADE ME AN OPTIMIST - THIS PLAY WILL BRING THEM IN LIKE AN "ADMISSION FREE" SIGN.
MR. NEBB - LONG DISTANCE FROM MR JONES
JONESY MUST HAVE SOME GOOD NEWS FOR ME - HE WOULDN'T BE IN SUCH A HURRY TO IMPART BAD NEWS AND GOODNESS KNOWS I COULD USE A TELEPHONE-FUL OF GLAD TIDINGS - MY NIGHTS HAVE BEEN ALL TOO LONG - I'VE BEEN TRYING TO ARGUE MYSELF INTO A GOOD NIGHT'S SLUMBER BUT I JUST CAN'T BRING MYSELF TO BELIEVE MY OWN ARGUMENT

A COMPLETE VINDICATION

The Associated Chambers of Commerce have adopted the report of the committee in respect to water conservation and flood control, and requested that further investigation be made, with new engineers, of the possible sites or plans to carry out the program of water conservation and flood control.

This is completely in harmony with the suggestion which The Register made on the day following the election on the bonds when, in concluding an editorial, we wrote as follows:

> The Supervisors of the county who have taken such an active part in the campaign we realize are greatly disappointed at the present moment. In their anxiety to win they have made naturally the most extreme statements on behalf of the present site, and yet as their interest in the county is uppermost, and they are men of ability and conscience, could they show a finer spirit than by stating to the public now, "You have voted down this project. We have done our best, at the same time we realize that the stockholders, namely, the voters of the county are the final judges. We are your directors. We are willing now to do our best with some other program that you may approve, because we realize with you that some program is necessary. Let us go forward"?

It will be noted that we outlined here practically the sense of the resolution which is now being forwarded to the Board of Supervisors. At that time we had most strenuous opposition by those who insisted that enough investigation had been made, and a vote should be forced on the same proposition as before on which the people had spoken.

For urging that this was unwise, unfair and betook of the spirit of autocracy, The Register and its publisher were personally misrepresented, and even some declared in the face of the facts that The Register had been opposed to the program. We were not disturbed over this, because we knew that as the facts developed we would be vindicated. The Register published two editorials distinctly on the conservation program a few days before election. In the first of these editorials we wrote, in part, as follows:

> We have spent many thousands of dollars in investigation, and months of time. We have published the reports of our investigators each month. There has been no question during all this period of time, of the wisdom of the method and the justice of the plan of employment and of determination.
> This intelligent plan is before us, contrasted with no plan. It is not whether the people will vote to adopt this plan, but it seems to us, at the present moment, a question of whether the people will vote to stand by themselves, whether they are going to vote for a plan of conservation and flood control or against it. There has been no other plan proposed.

Three or four days before election we wrote again, in part, as follows:

> We believe that the progress of Orange county is dependent upon a conservation program. We believe the very fact that the degree of opposition is so great and bitterness has been brought out, points to one clear situation, and that is that the defeat of this plan is the defeat of all plans. It means that Orange County, as a whole, will have no relief, that water levels will continue to lower, that pumping costs will continue to increase, that land which can be profitably tilled now will ultimately have to be abandoned and that the voters of the county will be forced to stand helpless facing the situation, because they are powerless to remedy it. . .
> The voters of the county must weigh the evidence. From the standpoint of a journal, whose value and success depends upon the prosperity and growth of Orange County in its entirety, and speaking with that interest in mind, we say we believe that it would be the interest of a vast majority of the people and insure the continued growth and prosperity of the entire county if the bonds for this program are carried on next Tuesday.

These were the only two editorial utterances which were made. We opened the columns to both sides of the case to give the people complete information. This we will always do on controverted matters. In the light of the facts as we knew them and believed them, we did not see how we could use stronger language in our editorial.

After the election was over, and when we knew plans had been laid to simply repeat the performance without any further investigation, we did make serious objection, and we are glad now to see a practically unanimous judgment that the position we then took was wise and right.

We made expression after the election, but not before, as follows:

> We early made up our mind to support whatever site was determined upon because we felt that whichever one it might be, opposition could be aroused against it, and that if we are ever going to succeed in enacting legislation and building a dam, we would have to support the project as agreed upon by the officials. We were among those who believed that the upper site would have been preferable, but at the same time we believed that the lower site would fulfill the requirements, and hence we supported it in the interest of unity and accomplishment, and unity by the way, is no small factor which is valuable for our labor together as citizens.

We feel that The Register's position is completely vindicated, and in spite of the ill feeling of some, we are glad to know that there must be a more thorough investigation by different and competent engineers, and the facts brought [illegible] before the public before another election [illegible].

[illegible] the light of the developments in other [illegible] that the citizens of Orange [illegible] sentiment is becom[illegible], so that there shall be further [illegible] to get the facts and to weigh these [illegible]

[illegible] of the St. Francis dam [illegible] dam of San Diego with a million and a quarter of dollars invested and lost, which has now been abandoned, was a further warning; and now after several millions of dollars have been expended in the San Gabriel dam, evidence is shown that it is unsafe, and the state engineer under a recent law comes in and forbids the building of the high dam at that point. This he does in the interest of the taxpayers and for the protection of the citizens.

We are all for water conservation and flood control. In spite of the fact that we were not thoroughly convinced that the lower site was the wisest and best, we wrote for it and voted for it. We are glad now that we are learning these facts from the experiences of others. We should proceed determined on flood control, but with that caution which we must have in the light of the experiences of those around us. As we have repeatedly said, we are not opposed to the selection of the lower dam site. We have been opposed to forcing the vote again on the people without presenting any different program in the light of the fact that with the evidence before them, the voters had turned that proposition down.

If, after we had started, it had been found that a serious mistake had been made, it would have been an error expensive in the extreme to have proceeded. We take what we believe to be pardonable pride now in the fact that the identical position which The Register assumed then, and pointed out the reasons for its assuming, the leaders now agree is the one thing to do. We thought at the time of the election that if the bond issue were defeated, it would be a monumental mistake. We now see that it was the forerunner of unity and undoubtedly wiser action.

A BUSINESS BOOM

Already the country is beginning to feel the importance of the resolution by railroads, automobile men, steel companies and public utilities to "full steam ahead" with building and development programs immediately.

The keenest, clearest and most effective answer which could possibly be made to the stock debacle has been made under President Hoover's direction. With literally billions of dollars being used to develop business, it will actually insure the purchasing power of the people not only to equal what it has been, but undoubtedly to increase.

The amount which is estimated that business will expend is $6,000,000,000. Millions of men are insured of steady work, and it means an uninterrupted stream of orders for steel, lumber and other materials.

Surely there is much for which all people in America should be grateful in that such a program was conceived and started. It will aid the great and the small, the rich and the poor.

A Real American

Imperial Valley Press

The death of Senator Francis E. Warren of Wyoming not only removes one of the most distinguished members of that body, but marks the passing of a real pioneer American, one who possessed the same spirit as Boone, Clarke and the hundreds of thousands of American men and women who settled the Great West.

Returning to his home in Massachusetts after the Civil war, in which he enlisted as a drummer boy and came back with the Congressional Medal of Honor, Young Warren heard the call of the pioneer, as so many of his New England forbears had done.

It took courage in 1868 to quit the comforts and convenience of the east for the wilds of Wyoming, then a part of Dakota territory. But where would courage be found if not in one who possessed his country's highest award for valor?

Warren's history from 1868 until death ended it, is contemporaneous with that of the state of Wyoming. He was its territorial governor on two occasions and was chosen to be its first governor following its admittance to the Union.

A man of considerable wealth at the time of his death, he had the satisfaction of knowing that what he had was the result of his own efforts and his own hard work. Honored by his adopted city and state many times over, he knew the heavy hand of grief when his daughter, the wife of General Pershing, and her children, met an untimely fate in the Presidio fire.

He served longer in the senate than any other member and was accorded an unusual tribute on the occasion of his 85th birthday last June. At an age when most men have long since retired, he was still to be found carrying on as briskly as ever and literally died in harness, worn out by the long struggle of the special session.

There may be names better known in United States history, but the success of this nation has been due to the men and women who possessed the same courage and sterling character as Francis E. Warren, as much as it is due to those who have won more distinguished recognition.

Saturday's Big Crowd Was Admirably Handled

San Francisco Chronicle

When everybody says that something was good, it must indeed have been very good. And that is the verdict on the handling of the traffic at the Stanford-California football game on Saturday.

Almost 90,000 persons attended the game and every one of them had to get there and get back home. If all the reports that come to our ears are correct the great multitude arrived and departed with ease. There was no undue congestion anywhere and the delays were only the necessary ones in getting all the cars started on their way. At every turn on every route at which there might be the slightest doubt or confusion traffic officers were on duty. And, best of all, they were there with a great big smile. It was a good-natured crowd, handled in a good-natured way, and everybody was happy.

To all that had a hand in the arrangements we offer our congratulations on their complete success. And for the very courteous officers we hear nothing but the most cordial expressions of good will.

Altogether, it was a big job well done.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A SAD STORY

There was a man
Went to and fro
To buy some stocks
And buy them low.
He told his friends:
"I know homehow
There's bargains in
The market now.
But just the same
I think I'll wait
Till U. S. Bun
Hits twenty-eight."
When this occurred,
With half his pelf
He started to Enrich himself.
But he had not
So long to wait
Till U. S. Bun
Was down to eight,
He dug up margins
Day by day
And steadily
His hair grew gray,
Until one morning
U. S. Bun,
To his distress,
Was down to one,
You think he may
Have wiser grown
And let this kind
Of thing alone.
But there, my friend,
You're off the track.
He's trying still
To get it back!

Do Your Theories Support You?

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Between certain theories of the average business man and his practises there is a great gulf.

In theory, the business man accepts placidly the idea that "production automatically regulates consumption; so that nobody need worry about markets."

In practice, he rejects it, in toto. Also in New York, Chicago, and Wichita, Kansas.

And the way he worries about markets is nobody's business. Or would be nobody's business if he didn't worry to some effect!

Business men bare their heads respectfully at the mention of Adam Smith, who contended that the United States cannot prosper by developing manufactures. Whereupon they replace their hats and turn their attention chiefly to developing manufactures.

Probably some of the business man's faithfulness in theory, to ideas discarded in practice, is due to his having learned them in college.

"Dear old familiar theories," he thinks fondly; "the ones I learned in the happy, care-free days, when all I needed to know about 'time money' was the time it took to come from home. Frayed and tattered as these theories are, I hope I have enough manhood to cherish and support them."

And cherish and support them he does!

Fortunately, he has too much sense to expect them to support him.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY of REVOLUTION ENDS

One hundred and forty years ago today, on November 30, 1782, the preliminary treaty of peace, ending the war between the United States and Great Britain, was signed by Adams, Franklin, Jay and Laurens in Paris.

Despite an agreement between the colonies and France that neither would make peace separately, the preliminary treaty was signed only by Great Britain and the United States.

The final treaty of peace granting the United States complete independence was not signed, however, until September 3 of the following year.

Today also is the anniversary of the birthday of Samuel Langhorne Clemens (Mark Twain), who was born November 30, 1835.

And on November 30, [illegible], William Penn, founder of the Quakers in America, reached his American province, now the state of Pennsylvania.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

IF LEE BUT LIVED AGAIN!

If I had but one wish for the South, it would be that Lee might live again.

I am tied by many ties to the South of Civil war days.

One of the most gracious and gifted men I have known was my wife's father, Ambrose Henry Flood Smith, an officer in the Confederate army throughout the Civil war. From him I have come to know, as I could never have known from sober reports or scintillant romances, the South of an older day.

As a watcher of the educational battles of the present day, I know something of the forces of light and darkness that are waging warfare in the South.

And, I repeat, the South has no higher heritage than the memory of the mind and spirit of Robert E. Lee.

He was, when necessity faced him, a military genius immune to the poison of militarism.

He knew how to fight without letting the fight infect him.

He had the spiritual genius to succumb without becoming soured.

The loyal defender of an old order, he became the liberal leader of the new order.

Leader of a lost cause of localism, he became the sincere promoter of the larger cause of nationalism.

He dared plead, at the end of an era of passion and prejudice, that passion be allayed, that prejudice be dissipated, and that reason be restored.

I have just finished reading his "Life and Letters" by his son, and there is not a single creative movement now under way in the South that could not find its text in the statements of Robert E. Lee.

The South is standing between an old social order and a new economic order.

The South is the battle ground of conflicting outlooks in religion, in industry, and in social relations.

The South can ill afford to ignore any leadership that brings to the problems of the present the spirit of Lee.

Realism, readiness to recognize the hour of transition from an old order to a new order, breadth of outlook, emancipation from the tyranny of localism, patience, generosity, and heroism—these qualities of the post-war Lee are still precious.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

BLUNDERING ADOLESCENCE

If the adolescent boy and girl knew what 'twere good to do, they would do it. The trouble is, they don't.

"But I tell them, and tell them. No children ever had any better training than they have had and yet they are stubborn and willfull and pig-headed as they can be. I can't get a word in. They know it all."

They always do. So did you when you were sixteen and seventeen and whatever age you are now. Wisdom dies hard within the youthful breast. It is not until old age overtakes us that we know we have not even touched the hem of her garment. So let's be a little patient with blundering youth.

"Yes, it is easy to talk. We have a car. He and Mary learned to drive it. They ought to learn. I admit that. By and by they each have a license to drive if an adult sits beside them. Now the trouble begins all over again. Each wants the car all the time. Each of them wants to drive all alone. Each of them wants it at the same time and there is a three cornered argument all the time.

"I'm trying to tell them that they cannot drive alone. That nobody has time to go with them and they will have to wait and take turns. But the battle rages day and night. I'm ready to sell the car but what can one do?"

You can sit down and keep still knowing that the keys of the car are in your pocket and when they use all the breath they have you can tell them so and go about your business with deaf ears. I know it is very hard to be deaf but it is very convenient and very convincing in the end. Children are not to drive cars and that's the end of that. When they grow up and have their licenses and own their own cars—that will be different. They will be struggling to hold their own children from getting under the wheels.

"But they have dreadful manners."

They have. I'll admit to a surge of wrath when a youngster stepped gaily up to a genial gentleman who was a guest in his home with a cordial smile and outstretched hand and, "Mit me, I'm the boy who lives here."

I must admit, too, that the surge of wrath was lost in a wave of laughter at the changing expressions on the old gentleman's face. The laughter won and he shook hands with the boy as though he were sixteen and very unconscious of life's amenities and conventionalities.

It is too bad that a boy of good breeding should have such bad manners. But there is this hope. As the years go by he will know that the comic strip is truly comic. That manners have no sense of honor. That there is a time for everything and a manner to suit. But he will be stiff in the joints and gray in the beard by then and the laughter will have departed from his eyes.

Just teach him and go ahead. He will learn. We all did.

Time To Smile

SOME IMPROVEMENT

"H'm!" the optician murmured. "You say the glasses I gave you have not improved your sight? You can still see what you call spots before your eyes?"

"That's right," his client replied. "But I must admit that since I wore the glasses I can see 'em much clearer than before!"—Tit-Bits.
